CAL'S LETTER GREAT AID IN BUTLER RACE

President Is the Only Issue in Senate Campaign of Home State HELPS TO RALLY PARTY
Walsh, Democrat, Will Give Opponent Hard Fight in Massachusetts

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1926, by Post Pub. Co.
Springfield, Mass.—President Coolidge alone is the issue in Massachusetts and the president recognized it when he made public his letter on Monday—heartily recommending to the voters of this state that they elect Senator William M. Butler.

Two theories are advanced as the reason for Mr. Coolidge's pronouncement. One is best expressed by the headline in the Boston Post: "Coolidge Comes To Rescue of Butler." The other is that the letter was part of a premeditated plan to cast the president's lot with that of Senator Butler because of a belief that if Senator Butler lost, Mr. Coolidge would be blamed for not coming to the support of his own campaign manager—a failure that could never have been satisfactorily explained to the practical politician.

REACTION FAVORS BUTLER
That is perhaps why Mr. Coolidge stressed in his letter the services rendered him by Senator Butler both in the prevention campaign and in the presidential campaign. At all events, the reaction from the president's letter has been favorable to the Butler cause. There is the usual criticism to the effect that Republicans were quick to resent advice given by President Wilson in 1918, when he asked that a Democratic congress be elected, and that president should keep hands off and permit the people to select the members of a coordinate branch of the government without influence of any kind from the chief executive.

Adverse sentiment is also typified by the editorial in the Springfield Daily News, which remarks: "In the name of common sense, why should Butler be elected to the senate because he made an effective manager for the president, which is about the most startling reason for his election."

STEAMSHIP SINKS AFTER COLLISION

All members of Crew Reported Safe; First Mate Is Injured

New Orleans, La.—(AP)—The steamship Louisiana sank outside South Pass, early Thursday after colliding with the S. S. Madison off the Gulf and Southern SS company were informed.
The Louisiana, out bound for Miami and Key West, was struck by the Madison just outside the pass and sank a few minutes later.
All members of the crew were reported safe, although First Mate Adams of the Louisiana, suffered a broken leg. The Madison was inbound from Tampa. One man, a member of the crew of the Louisiana, whose identity had not been ascertained, was reported missing. He was said to have leaped overboard with a life preserver after the accident.
The Louisiana was said to have been proceeding slowly through an impending fog when she was struck amidships. The Louisiana, a freighter, carried a crew of about 35 men.
The Madison was able to proceed to pilot town, near the mouth of the river under her own power and later left that point to continue up the river, although her bow was damaged.

EVANS IS REFUSED STAY OF EXECUTION

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—Richard B. Evans, Chicago, sentenced to hang Friday for the killing of a Chicago policeman was Thursday refused a stay of execution by the supreme court. He was to have hanged last Friday, but was granted a stay by Judge Miller of Chicago, to enable him to perfect Thursday's appeal.
HOUDINI NOT OUT OF DANGER, DOCTOR SAYS

Advertising Lifts U. S. Standard, Coolidge Says

Responsible for Large Production and High Wages in America

Washington — (AP)—President Coolidge feels that advertising has taken a commanding hand in bringing about "a u r American scale of wages," the maintenance of which he believes is par amount to the support of the home market.
Speaking Wednesday night at the annual banquet of the American Association of Advertising Agencies, the President held it would not be remiss to describe advertising as the "life of trade" and as the foundation for "much of the success of American industrial system."
"The preeminence of American industry, which has constantly brought about a reduction of costs," the President asserted, "has come very largely through mass production. Mass production is only possible where there is mass demand. Mass demand has been created almost entirely through the development of advertising."
"In former days goods were expected to sell themselves. Modern business could neither have been created nor can it be maintained on such a system. It is not enough that goods are made, a demand for them must also be made. It is on this foundation of enlarging production through the demands created by advertising that much of the success of the American industrial system rests. "It will occur at once that the conditions under which these results have been secured should be maintained. It is our high rate of wages which brings about the greatest distribution of wealth that the world has ever seen and provides the enormous capacity for the consumption of all kinds of commodities which characterizes our country."
"If we proceed under our present system, there would appear to be little reason to doubt that we can continue to page 5 col. 5

Sponge Squad Uses Wild West Tactics In Raid Here

With drawn revolvers and serious faces as befits men sworn to desperate duty three federal prohibition enforcement officers are alleged to have swooped down on the N. Richmond-st soft drink saloon of Anton Koehn on Wednesday night, ordered several cash playing customers to throw up their hands and back against the wall, while with leveled guns they intimidated the bar tender and made a thorough search of the place.
The net result of the investigation, it was stated Thursday, was one one-half pint bottle filled with a liquid said to resemble illicit liquor. It is probable, according to reports, that a federal warrant will be issued requiring the presence of the alleged dismemberer of intoxicants in federal court at Milwaukee at some time in the future.
According to reports the three federal men entered the place; gave their orders, and when requested to show their authority for the raid, poofly doffed their hats and revealed the well known emblem certifying that they were duly appointed and that the raid was in order and was being conducted in a lawful manner. Their badges, it was said, were concealed in the head-gear.
The foray, it is said, comes as the result of the undercover work of two agents of a prohibition organization.

BASEBALL LEAGUE MAY SUFFER UNDER BLUE LAW OF 1794

Harrisburg, Pa.—(AP)—The Dauphin-co court Thursday declared Sunday baseball in Pennsylvania "a worldly employment" and prohibition of the "blue laws" of 1794.
The decision upholds the state in an action against the Philadelphia American League club. The proceedings resulted from a game played Aug. 25, between the Philadelphia Athletics and the Chicago White Sox.

SUBMARINE BURNS OUT BEARINGS; IS STRANDED

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—The new Peruvian submarine R-2, on her maiden voyage to Callao, lies 150 miles east of Cape Henlopen, Del with her main bearings burned out, and her sister ship, the R-1 has returned to the New London, Conn., submarine station to secure assistance.
News of the breakdown of the R-2, sent to the navy department Thursday by the New London commandant, helped clear up a mystery which resulted from receipt of an SOS signal Wednesday indicating that the R-1 was in distress.
A message from the R-1, saying she needed no assistance and had sent no distress signal, came later.
The message received Thursday from New London did not indicate that the R-2, with the crew of 21 Peruvians was in any immediate danger.

Wright's Friends Charge 'Revenge' Back Of Arrest

Chicago — (AP)—Several personal friends of Frank Lloyd Wright, architect, including professors and writers, Thursday disclosed that they had signed a letter to LaFayette French, Jr., federal district attorney at Minneapolis, urging him "not to permit your high office to be used as an instrument of persecution and revenge."
Mr. Wright and his companion, Olga Milanolis, are under federal and state charges in Minneapolis and Baraboo, Wis., preferred by his estranged wife Miriam Noel Wright, a sculptress. Wright as an architectural artist is nearly as well known in Europe and in Japan as in the United States.
The signatures are headed by Ferdinand Schevill, professor of history at the University of Chicago, and include Robert M. Lovett, editor of the New Republic; Carl Sanburg, Chicago writer; Derwent Whitteley, professor of geography at the University of Chicago; Alfred MacArthur, Chicago publisher, and Harold Kemp, Chicago geographer.
OLGA REPORTED ILL
Minneapolis—(AP)—Mme. Olga Milanolis, companion of Frank Lloyd Wright, famous architect, with whom she was arrested last week on charges of being a fugitive of justice was confined to her bed Thursday while her physician planned to remove her to a sanatorium.
Wright and Mme. Milanolis were scheduled to appear in United States district court Thursday on charges of violating the Mann act, but her physician indicated her condition may not permit her appearance in court.

MOB STORMED KLAN MEET IN BADGER CITY

Witness in Marinette Trial Says Crowd Made Threats on Life

Marinette—(AP)—The state completed its case against nine Marinette men here late Wednesday afternoon in circuit court where the men are standing trial on charges of rioting and destruction of property in connection with the burning of a tent in which the K. K. K. were holding a revival meeting here June 25 last. The defense witnesses took the stand Thursday morning.
John Hollingsworth, who was rescued from the mob, which numbered more than 1,000, the night of the disturbance, testified on the stand Wednesday that he had used a large wrench to drive in tent stakes the night the crowd had gathered but the mob pulled them as fast as he could escape them. He also stated that he had used the same wrench in fighting back the mob and that he had struck somebody on the head but that it was not officer Edward Johnson.
OFFICER DREW GUN
It was brought out that it was an officer by the name of Rock who had drawn a gun on him and Hollingsworth stated that the mob made threats on his life. He said he was not a member of the hooded order and denied that officers had found a Klansman's membership card on him in the jail.
Claude Peterson, chauffeur and grand night hawk of the Klan, stated on the stand that an attempt had been made to burn the tent. He claimed that he had seen Officer Casper Sorenson unhook the collapsed tent, while it was being dragged away, so that it might be carried more rapidly. Officer Sorenson took the stand later and denied the allegation.
CARRIED SHOTGUN
J. W. Martin, a local Klansman and night watchman the night of the riot, testified on cross examination that he had a shotgun in his automobile the night the tent was burned, but added that he always carried a shotgun when guarding Klan property.
The next witness on the stand, Claude Peterson, declared that he had seen Clyde Barrett, Harold Bennett and Leo Bellaire, three of the defendants, pulling up tent stakes and also that he had sighted Leo and Eugene Seguin, two other defendants, pulling the tent ropes before the tent collapsed.

TRACE ORMISTON TO HOTEL IN NEW YORK

New York—(AP)—Kenneth G. Ormiston, missing radio man of the Albee Temple McPherson case, lived at a New York hotel for almost a month until Sept. 17, when he disappeared leaving a trunk behind him, the district attorney's office announced on Thursday.
It was said at District Attorney Stanton's office Thursday that investigators working for District Attorney Asa Keyes of Los Angeles, trailed Ormiston from Pasadena to Jacksonville and thence to New York where they found that he had registered at the Hotel Cumberland at Broadway and 54th street under the name of Ralph Stringer.
Ormiston checked out of the Cumberland just before the investigators went there for him but his trunk was seized and is now back in Los Angeles.

DECISION UPHOLDS ACTION OF Cook-co Judge in Permitting Probate

Springfield—(AP)—Validity of "Billy" McClintock's will, bequeathing virtually his entire million dollar estate to William D. Shepherd, Chicago lawyer, was upheld by the supreme court here Thursday.
Last year Shepherd was acquitted on the charge of having dictated the will of his millionaire friend, and of then causing his death eight months later by inoculating him with typhoid germs.
Thursday's decision of the supreme court upholds the action of Judge Dickinson Scanlon of the Cook-co circuit court in allowing the Cook-co public administrator to probate the will and testament to probate.

EARTH SHOCKS SHAKE BUILDINGS IN TOLEDO

Toledo, O.—(AP)—What is believed to have been an earthquake shook buildings and rattled windows in Toledo and vicinity at 2:42 Thursday morning.
Places where the shock was felt were the terminal railroad tower, the Lake Shore and Terminal tower on the Dixie highway north of the city, Braden, Ohio railroad offices and at the watch tower of the terminal bridge over the Maumee river here. Toledo was shaken by earth shocks some months ago.

LIGHTER IS SUNK IN FALSE WATER PASSAGE

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.—(AP)—The lighter, Michigan Central, owned by the L. L. Durocher company of Detroit and valued at $250,000, sank mysteriously in a false detour passage between Drummond and Cockburn islands Wednesday night. Ten members of the crew barely escaped up in response to frantic signals. The word was brought here Thursday by Walter Durocher, one of the owners.
The lighter carried 1,800 tons of stone. Formerly a railroad car ferry it had been remodeled. The fireman, Walter Happenstahl, heard rushing water shortly after midnight and aroused his sleeping comrades just in time to escape over the side before the ship went down in very deep water.

FORMER BADGER DIES AT MINNESOTA HOME

Pelican Rapids, Minn.—(AP)—C. N. Haugen, 71, former mayor here and member of the state legislature, died here Wednesday. He was a brother of Congressman Gilbert N. Haugen of the Fourth Iowa district. The Haugen family formerly live in Rock-co, Wis.

BRITISH STATION CHARGES 72 CENTS FOR MARS MESSAGE

London—(AP)—In return for a payment of 72 cents, the British government has done its best to send a message to Mars. At the central radio office Wednesday night Dr. Manfred Robinson handed in, with businesslike seriousness, a message for Mars, some 40,000,000 miles distant, and asked the rate.
The message was prefaced with three M's which Dr. Robinson said was the calling sign for Mars. It was composed of two words "Opes-tinipitia Secomlan."
The message was accepted by the clerk for transmission by Great Britain's most powerful radio station, Humberston. The sending was charged the long distance ship rate, equivalent to 36 cents a word.
The clerk informed Dr. Robinson that he could not guarantee delivery. No reply has been received. Dr. Robinson who is versed in psychical research, claims he has previously had psychical communication with the Martians.

REFUSE RIGHT OF PETITION IN RAIL SALE

Federal Judge Denies Appeal of Minority Group for St. Paul Road

Chicago—(AP)—The United States circuit court of appeals Thursday refused leave to former Governor Nathan Z. McCall of New York, and other counsel for the Jamison committee of minority bondholders of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway to file a petition of mandamus to compel Judge Wilkerson to allow an appeal from his refusal to permit the committee to intervene in the railroad receivership.
Judge Wilkerson, by the same order denying the minority the right to intervene in the suit, directed that the road be sold on Nov. 23 at Butte, Mont.
The minority stated at the time of the decision that the order of sale was not the object of their appeal but only on the question of the right to intervene.
The order, the judge ruled that the sale price must not be less than $122,000,000. At that time Judge Wilkerson said his ruling was unappealable.

GUNMEN WOUND U. S. NIGHT MAIL CLERK

Blame Victim for Conviction of Three Men Involved in Robbery

Faxton, Ill.—(AP)—Four gunmen early Thursday shot and probably fatally wounded Harry Swanson, night postal clerk, after blaming their victim for the conviction of three men involved in a postal robbery here some time ago.
Swanson, who was on lone duty the night of the robbery, said the quartet apparently had no intention of shooting up the office when they came in and covered him with revolvers, but shortly afterward began firing at him.
The alarm was given and for the second time within six weeks possession of the robbery, the quartet in September played an active role in the capture of the bandits who obtained $500,000 in gems from three diamond salesmen and were captured not far from Paxton.
Swanson, who said the gunmen explained at some length why he was being visited, was the one witness to the original attack on the postoffice and the three men he positively identified were convicted and sentenced to prison for the robbery.

Slick Stranger Borrows Suit To 'Put On Front'

Dave Rosenthal is minus one suit and Appleton finds herself shy one potential or embryonic man about town as the result of a recent temporary resident's desire to impress his "girl at Green Bay" with his social and economic importance in the general scheme of things Appletonian.
According to the story a young man of winning ways and collegiate men registered as the guest of the M. C. A. several weeks ago. Last Saturday, he is said to have checked out—very unenthusiastically, shipping his trunk to Chicago.
In the meantime, however, he allegedly cultivated the acquaintance of several Appleton men.
Friday night the stranger confided to his quondam friends that the wantonness of the town, which he visited his girl friend at Green Bay, would somebody be so kind as to lend him a suit of clothes, so that he might appear prosperous?
Mr. Rosenthal responded to the plea.
Missing—one gray suit.
"Not worth asking police to search for," declared the loser.
Gone—one potential man about town, vocation unknown; avocation, cultivating friends, or working them.

BE CAREFUL WITH BALLOTS, CLERKS TOLD

City, Village and Town Officials Hold Conference Here Today

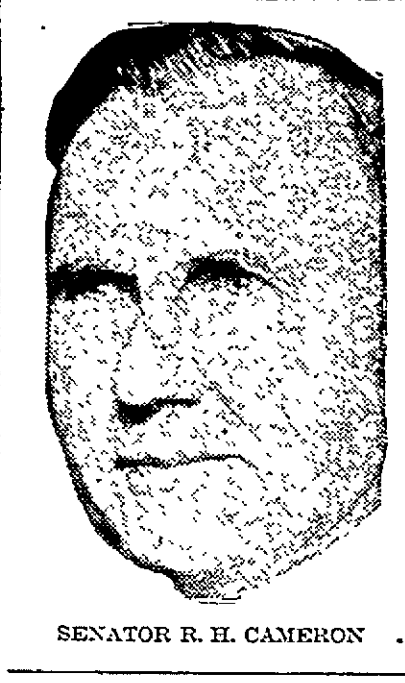

Pearce Tomkins, member of the Wisconsin State Tax Commission and County Judge Fred V. Heinemann were the principal speakers at the assemblage of town, city and village clerks at the fourth annual convention at the courthouse here on Thursday.
John Breitrick, town clerk of Ellington, and president of the organization, presided.
The addresses of the two prominent guests were given at the Appleton Hotel where a banquet was held at noon. No afternoon session was scheduled and it was expected that informal discussion would predominate if the clerks gathered after the social recess.
TALKS ON ELECTION
In his talk Judge Heinemann stressed obscure points of the election laws and outlined in great detail how elections should be conducted in the city, towns and villages. It was considered especially appropos at this time as the judge's talk comes on the heels of a recount demanded from the returns of the September county primaries.
Although dealing with his subject to some degree in a technical vein the assemblage received the information much in the nature of a course of instruction on how elections should be conducted.
Judge Heinemann emphasized that in many matters of apparently inconsequential detail the election laws of the state are somewhat contradictory.

OTTAWA WELCOMES RUMANIAN QUEEN

Royal Party Is Officially Welcomed by Governor, General of Canada

Ottawa, Ont.—(AP)—The special train bearing Queen Marie of Rumania, Princess Nicholas and Princess Ileana, arrived in Ottawa shortly before 11 o'clock Thursday morning from Montreal. The royal visitors were greeted by Viscount Willington, governor general of Canada.
Queen Marie, Princess Ileana and Prince Nicholas had a chance to secure a sound sleep Wednesday night far from the maddening crowd, aboard the royal train bound from Montreal for Ottawa after a fatiguing day in the former city. In order that the royal party might obtain needed rest from their exertions, the engineers stopped the train in a quiet region and held it until there was just sufficient time to arrive in Ottawa on schedule. Another round of receptions and sightseeing was on the program to entertain the visitors from the time of their arrival in the capital until nearly midnight. Since the transcontinental journey began in New York last Monday the "Royal Rumanian" as the train is known, has traveled more than 1,300 miles. A speedometer on board shows that at times a speed of nearly 70 miles an hour has been attained to keep the special on schedule time.
THREE CABIN AIRPLANES FOR MILWAUKEE FLIGHT
Detroit—(AP)—Three cabin airplanes made by the Stinson Aeroplane company here are ready to leave Friday for a non-stop flight to Milwaukee where they will be turned over to the Northwest Airways Inc. for use on the Chicago-Milwaukee air mail route, officials disclosed Wednesday night. Eddie Stinson, nationally known pilot and president of the manufacturing company, will fly one of the ships.

ASKS INQUIRY

SENATOR R. H. CAMERON

SENATE WILL MAKE INQUIRY FOR ARIZONA

Reed Orders Investigation of Charges Made by Senator Cameron

St. Louis, Mo.—(AP)—Investigation of the senatorial campaign in Arizona was ordered Thursday by Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, chairman of the senate campaign funds committee.
Senator McNary, Republican, Oregon, now conducting an inquiry into the campaign in his own state, was asked to proceed to Arizona as soon as his present work is concluded. Senator Cameron, Republican, nominee for reelection in Arizona, asked for an inquiry charging that $100,000 had been contributed by copper and hydro-electric power interests for use against him in the present campaign. After reading Senator Cameron's telegram Senator Reed placed into the record a telegram from Senator Asa Keyes, Democrat, Arizona, saying that the Cameron charges were "false and ridiculous" and stating that there were evidences that large sums were being used in Senator Cameron's campaign.
Explaining that the committee had no authority to investigate a campaign six years ago, Senator Reed refused an investigation of Cameron's 1920 campaign. W. L. Bartrum, Democratic national committee man, made the request.

EXAMINE MRS. MILLS' BODY IN MURDER CASE

Officials Hope to Get Exact Evidence in Slaying of Singer

Somerville, N. J.—(AP)—The body of Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills Thursday lay in a four-year-old grave opened for a second time in order to learn whether there was confusion in medical testimony regarding the exact course of bullets that killed Mrs. Mills. Permission to exhume the body of Dr. Hall which rests in a Brooklyn cemetery is also sought. Darkness prevented the completion of the work.
Dr. Otto Schultze, expert of the New York district attorney's office assigned to examine the body, desired daylight for the autopsy, which will be the third on the body of Mrs. Mills.
Throughout the night a deputy, armed with a pistol and a flashlight, stood guard over the rough wooden box in which her casket was inclosed. Besides investigation of reports that the choir singer's tongue had been split, the authorities hoped to clear up confusion in medical testimony regarding the exact course of bullets that killed Mrs. Mills. Permission to exhume the body of Dr. Hall which rests in a Brooklyn cemetery is also sought. Darkness prevented the completion of the work.
Dr. Otto Schultze, expert of the New York district attorney's office assigned to examine the body, desired daylight for the autopsy, which will be the third on the body of Mrs. Mills.

BRITISH MISSIONARY KIDNAPED IN CHINA

Shanghai—(AP)—Bishop T. A. Scott of the Church of England mission, was captured by bandits Thursday near Wulashien, Shantung province. The bishop was proceeding from his headquarters at Tainan for a survey of his Shantung diocese when he was set upon by the outlaws and carried off. Bishop Scott has been a missionary in China since 1909.

SHELTON BROTHERS ARE ORDERED OUT OF COUNTY

Benton, Ill.—(AP)—Franklin-co officials Thursday served notice on the Shelton brothers gang, engaged in warfare with the Birger faction that they must leave the county at once and not return. The Shelton gangsters immediately left their roadhouse near West City and went toward the Williamson-co line.

GAVE SUPPORT FOR HIGH U. S. POST, CHARGE

Claim Hooded Order Indorsed Indiana Senator for Vice President

CALL STATE OFFICIALS
Would Reward Watson for Backing Given Mayfield Seat in Senate

St. Louis, Mo.—(AP)—William F. Zumburn general counsel of the Ku Klux Klan, was described here Thursday before the senate campaign fund committee by George W. Meyers of Marion, Ind., as the legislative agent of the Klan at Washington.
Meyers, a former member of the Klan in the Hoosier state, testified that Zumburn looked after matters before congress in which the Klan was interested, including immigration restriction, abolishment of parochial schools, "and the seating of United States senators."
Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, and committee chairman, demanded an explanation of the statement about the seating of senators and Meyers said Klan delegates to the Indiana Republican convention in 1924 endorsed Senator James E. Watson, Republican, Indiana, for the vice presidency because of his efforts to seat Senator Mayfield, Democrat, Texas.
"Was Senator Mayfield a Klansman?" Senator Reed asked.
"That was the general understanding," Meyers replied.
Judge V. M. Bolen, former secretary of the Indiana Klan, testified that "by direction of E. Lee Smith, then chief of staff of the Indiana Klan, he drew up checks for $100,000 to pay the expenses of the Klan officials to Washington last January at which it was proposed to have Charles Ormiston, an Indianapolis attorney, appointed.
Those making the trip, he added, were Joseph Huffington of Evansville, a great cyclops of the Klan; Mayor John L. Duval of Indianapolis; Mayor Herbert Mailes of Evansville, and Robert I. McNary of Indianapolis.
Bolen said Huffington told him that Bossert could not "deliver politically" but that he had "delivered" the Mayor of Evansville and that McNary had "delivered" the Mayor of Indianapolis.
"What do you mean by 'delivered'?" Senator Reed inquired.
"That Huffington had elected Mayfield," Bolen said.

ILLINOIS GANG FEUD BREAKS OUT AGAIN

15 Men Riddle Four Buildings With Fire from Machine Guns

West Frankfort, Ill.—(AP)—The smouldering feud between the Birger and Shelton gangs of Williamson-co flared up again early Thursday when a band of some fifteen men attacked "Shawn's Garden" a roadhouse frequented by Birger men, riddled four dilapidated frame buildings with machine gun fire and finding no one to fight back, burned them to the ground.
The resort is two miles south of here and eight miles north of Marion. It is generally believed to be owned by Charles Birger, gang leader.
Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. French, who live in a brick cottage about 100 yards from the roadhouse group, said the raiders came from the woods behind the resort and departed the same way, having no automobiles. The resort is about six miles across country from the reported stronghold of the Shelton brothers and their gang near Benton.
Mrs. French said she counted fifteen men in the crowd and believed more than 300 shots were fired.

HOTEL CASE WILL END BEFORE NIGHT

Court Hears Testimony in Lawsuit Involving Alleged Contracts

Indications were Thursday noon that trial of the suit of Andrew Scowley, Kaukauna hotel proprietor, against the Albert Park Co., Chicago, hotel supply dealer, would be concluded before night.

Mr. Scowley is suing the Chicago firm for $25,000 damages as the outgrowth of action taken by the Chicago concern in the winter of 1925 in which Mr. Scowley alleged the Chicago company's collection methods forced him to close his hotel while the action was being adjusted.

A counter claim for $13,000 in the form of a chattel mortgage held by the defendants is involved in the litigation.

Mr. Scowley contends that he selected samples of furnishing and equipment for his establishment but when the goods were shipped it transpired that of some articles he received more than the orders called for and he declares in his affidavits that certain furniture bought was not delivered in the same quality as that of samples shown him in Chicago.

ON HIS BACK, BUT VIGOROUS

Senator James Watson of Indiana, confined to a bed in an Indianapolis hospital by injuries suffered in an auto accident, reads to Senator James A. Reed, senate primary fund investigator, a vigorous statement that all tales of "deals" between Watson and the Indiana Ku Klux Klan were false.

REPUBLICAN TALKERS BUSY EVERY NIGHT

The Republican county committee has been holding a series of rally meetings in the county for the last week in an endeavor to get out a large vote on election day. On Wednesday night attorney Joseph Witmer and A. H. Krugmeier addressed a large crowd at Apple Creek.

According to Mr. Witmer, this is the first campaign in 10 years in which rallies of this kind have been held, and the people are responding very well.

On Thursday evening Mr. Witmer and Mr. Krugmeier will give addresses at Greenville. On Friday evening they will talk at a gathering at Dale and on Saturday evening they will talk at a meeting at Black Creek. On Friday morning Oscar Schmeide, candidate for assemblyman from the First district will address a gathering at Stephentown.

Visit Schools Here

Two teachers of the primary grades in the Manitowish public schools visited classes in the Appleton primary and second grades Thursday. Several local schools were visited.

tion that the president advanced. The fact that he ran the president's campaign, leaves him the natural choice for senator, says the president. Well that is, of course, one way of looking at it, but will the voters of Massachusetts look at it in that light, is a question that might well be asked. Why should the people of Massachusetts stultify themselves by paying off the president's campaign debts?

LETTER CHANGED SITUATION

It is a fact that Mr. Butler's chances for victory have been in recent weeks diminished by the rather effective campaign made by his Democratic opponent, former Senator David I. Walsh. And before Mr. Coolidge's letter was made public, there was considerable gloom in the inside of the Republican camp. The Coolidge manifesto has over-night changed the situation. For the president's word carries far with the voters of his own state. It carries particularly with the Republican voters, so many of whom in previous years have voted for Senator Walsh. There is some reason to believe, also, that the solid Democratic vote will not be cast for Mr. Walsh because of factional difficulties. The prohibition question has been injected into the campaign to the advantage of the Democrats in the cities, but to their disadvantage in the rural communities. This makes it difficult to judge the situation on the basis of what the parties have done in the past.

EXPECT SMALL MAJORITY

Generally speaking, the race is close in the sense that it will not be carried by any large majority. Senator Butler will be lucky to get through by 25,000, though this is a small number of votes on which to decide a Massachusetts election for senator. Mr. Coolidge's future in politics will not be served any too well by a small majority for Senator Butler. It will be recalled that the president himself carried the state by about 400,000 in 1924. If that majority is reduced to a paltry 25,000 or 50,000 the Democrats will not be slow to revive their "Coolidge is slipping" slogan.

An overwhelming victory for Mr. Butler, on the other hand, a majority of 100,000—will be counted a great stroke for Calvin Coolidge because Senator Walsh is no ordinary campaigner and is a man of great popularity in the state. Were it not for the Coolidge issue, he would win this race easily. As it is, Mr. Walsh is fighting the president of the United States, his campaign manager, the Klan influence and a very well-organized Republican party. Only a political miracle can win against such a combination and the chances are therefore that Mr. Butler will retain the seat to which he was originally appointed on the death of Senator Lodge.

J. T. Giles, state high school inspector, left Appleton Wednesday night for Madison after spending the day at Kimberly high school. It is expected that Mr. Giles will return in the near future to inspect other rural district institutions.

Senior Girl Wins First Post-Crescent Essay Prize

Miss Carolyn Schaefer, 114 S. Durkeet, a senior at high school won the prize of $2.50 offered by the Post-Crescent to the student writing the best essay on a story published in the paper from Monday, Oct. 18 to Saturday, Oct. 23, believed to have the greatest local interest, and effect. Miss Schaefer is news director on the Tullman, the school weekly paper, and has been active in journalistic work at the school since her matriculation.

The essay was written about the story which appeared under the heading, "World Owes Huge Debt To Theorists, Remley Tells Club, but Professional Men Need Traders to get Their Work Before Public." The address was given on Business vs. Professional Men at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary club at Hotel Northern, Tuesday noon, Oct. 19. Following is Miss Schaefer's essay: "That appreciation of the professional's, not only strenuous efforts, but valuable accomplishments have been decreasing as time goes on, is very evident according to the main idea A. C. Remley of the Patten Paper-co, had in mind when he made his address on To Whom Does the World Owe the Largest Debt—the Professional or the Business man?"

"Question upon question has been asked in accordance with this argument, and slam upon slam have been thrown back and forth from the professional to the business man as these questions have been presented, but the article containing a great many phrases of Mr. Remley's speech and appearing in the Thursday evening, October 21, issue of the Appleton Post-Crescent enables us to clear up, in our minds, who really has the greater credit due them.

"The 'start,' we have found to be true, is the thing that counts, therefore, who is it that earnestly 'digs' for new inventions—new discoveries—new hopes? Certainly not the business man! He, of course grabs the chances he gets of developing these new find-

Miller Balloons Miller Cords UNIFORM

This may not mean much to you and it may mean a whole lot.

A tire in order to deliver service must be uniform. The tread, carcass, bead and sidewall must be built in proportion so that the proper flexing is obtained.

A tire with too heavy a tread, sidewall or carcass will flex but not flex properly and sooner or later breaks down in one of the three places.

Miller tires have always been built uniform and that is the reason why they have always given uniform service.

RURAL PUPILS ARE LEARNING HOW TO READ JUST FOR FUN

State Superintendent Urges Teachers to Stress "Special" Program

County Superintendent A. G. Meating has received a letter from State Superintendent John Callahan urging that rural teachers should devote periods when they "should read for fun."

"Can you somehow get to your teachers," he asks, "a request that now, at the beginning of the school year children should be taught to use the library. Teachers should sit down by the bookcase with the children gathered about them and with them actually use the library in preparing lessons. It is hoped that many card catalogs are in condition for use in making up bibliographies from the books in such cases."

"Then too there should be days when the teacher with the pupils should 'read for fun' silently the good fiction found in the library or from boxes sent by the Free Traveling Library to the school. Fifteen or 20 minute periods occasionally given to this actual laboratory reading will mean much to the children in forming reading habits. Are your school boards buying more good fiction for their school libraries?" the letter concluded.

BICYCLE DAMAGED IN COLLISION WITH CAR

A bicycle was badly damaged and its rider bruised and shaken but not seriously hurt in a collision between an automobile and the cycle late Wednesday afternoon near the intersection of College-ave and Bennett-st.

Edward Casperson, 6 Sherman-pl., driver of the automobile, stopped and picked up the bicycle rider, Clarence Turkow, 307 W. Lorain-st., and took him to his home.

It was unnecessary to call a physician, according to a report filed with police. Mr. Casperson was driving north on Bennett-st and Mr. Turkow riding south.

WOMAN DRIVER'S CAR DAMAGED IN DITCH

Mrs. John Becker, town of Greenville, driving a small touring car, was forced from state trunk highway 18 at the intersection of Badger-ave late Wednesday by another car. Considerable damage resulted to her machine when it tore through a section of guard rail. No one was hurt in the collision. The driver of the other car stopped and the matter was adjusted, witnesses said.

HIGHWAY PATROLMEN KEEP BUSY TO NOV. 15

Indications are that enough work will be found to keep county road patrolmen busy until at least Nov. 15, it was announced Wednesday. Weather conditions to some extent will govern the matter, it was stated at the county highway commission office.

START INVENTORY OF COUNTY MACHINERY

An inventory of all county owned road machinery and highway construction equipment will be made starting on Friday of this week. It was announced Thursday. A list of such property and its value will be embodied in the annual report of A. G. Brusewitz, county highway commissioner.

PICK FIVE GIRLS FOR DAME CONTEST

Three More Are Commended for Their Excellency in Declamations

Girls to represent Appleton high school in the George Dame declamatory contest Nov. 19 were selected at the tryouts held in Moss hall Monday and Tuesday afternoons. Of the group of 20 candidates, 5 were chosen to appear in the contest and three others were cited as deserving honorable mention.

Miss Eunice Segal, Miss Beatrice Segal, Miss Margaret Heckle, Miss Lois Klockin and Miss Louise Marston were the successful candidates; and Miss Gwendolyn Purves, Miss Luella Giese and Miss Phyllis Ornstein were commended for their work.

Each girl chose her own material and gave her selection without help in interpretation from any other person. Miss Ruth McKean, dramatic director at the school, will coach the five entrants before their appearance in November. A medal will be presented by Mr. Dame to the girl winning first place and she will represent the high school at the Fox River Valley district meet at Sheboygan, Dec. 10.

SIXTEEN SANATORIUM PATIENTS GET BALLOTS

County Clerk John E. Hantschel on Wednesday took 16 votes from persons confined to the Riverview sanatorium who will be unable to reach the polls for the general elections next Tuesday, it was reported Thursday. Mr. Hantschel is taking all about 16 votes in person where the voter is confined to his home or an institution by illness and still wants to cast a ballot. No deputies are being appointed.

LADIES!

Don't wave your hair daily—or even every week. Here's a way to keep it wavy for days at a time. BEFORE you use your iron, or curlers, DAMP-EN the hair with DANDERINE. Just a few DROPS on comb or towel. Your locks will then behave for a MONTH! Of course, you know what Danderine does to dandruff; dissolves every speck, within five minutes of rubbing into the scalp. But as a wave-preserver on the hair itself, Danderine is a JOY. The best dressing in the world because it doesn't show. Any permanent wave or water wave lasts much longer and looks much nicer when Danderine is used instead of water to "set" the wave.

MAY SUBMIT POWER BY RADIO -- MARCONI

Expert Does Not Indicate That Time Is Rapidly Approaching

London (AP)—William Marconi thinks it may be possible some day to utilize electric waves for transmitting power over moderate distances.

In foreshadowing such a possibility during an address before the Institution of Civil Engineers, he spoke cautiously and without implying any near attainment of such a development. He said the achievement of the transmission of power by electric waves would involve the perfecting of devices for projecting the waves in parallel beams in such a manner as to minimize dispersal and diffusion of energy into space. He did not elaborate the suggestion further. Signor Marconi said among other things that less was known regarding the theory of wireless than many other persons imagined and that the whole theory and practice of long distance radio transmission were undergoing a radical change. He expressed confidence that his system of beam radio transmission would make wireless telephony more effective and aid in the transmission of pictures and facsimiles including television. Only recently he put in operation his beam radio service between Montreuil and London. Messages in dot and dash were exchanged at a rate of 200 words a minute.

ORDER HOLIDAY TO CELEBRATE VICTORY

Neenah Mill Employees Get Day Off Because They Won Safety Contest

Neenah—Saturday will be a holiday for all employees of the Neenah mill of the Kimberly-Clark company, according to a program completed Wednesday afternoon for celebrating the safety victory won by the mill. This mill operated the last nine months without an accident or mishap and was awarded a trophy by the Safety council. The Neenah mill won the first prize over 75 other paper mills in the United States and Canada. The Spruce Falls mill of Kapuskasing, Canada, and Globe-Badger mill of Neenah, both owned by Kimberly-Clark company, came second and third places respectively. Edward Goodman was sent to Detroit, Mich., to attend the safety conference and receive the trophy.

Employees of the mill be at the depot Saturday to meet Mr. Goodman and Clyde Smith, Arthur Reddin and M. G. Hoyman who also were at the conference. A parade will be formed which will pass through the main streets of Menasha and Neenah, headed by the Appleton military band. At noon a dinner will be served at Equitable Fraternal Union hall to employees who assisted in winning the prize. Short talks will be given by heads of the departments of the mill and officials of the Kimberly-Clark company.

BRIDGE BUILDERS MOVE MACHINERY

Long Bridge Is Nearly Completed and Short Bridges Are Started

Neenah—The major work on the long bridge over Fox river was completed Wednesday and the machinery was moved to the south end of the two smaller structures where work was started at once. The long bridge is completed so far as cement work is concerned with exception of guard rail and placing of street car tracks and ornamental light posts. It is expected that the railway tracks will be laid at once and as soon as this work is completed the bridge will be opened for traffic.

According to the supervising engineer the two smaller bridges will be completed in about five weeks.

Three feet of the Wileckert Lumber company office building on the east side of N. Commercial-st was cut off Wednesday as it was in direct line of the abutment of one bridge.

Menasha—Babe Ruth of baseball fame and party passed through Menasha on highway 15 shortly before 11 o'clock Thursday morning. He was on his way to Iron Mountain, where he was to participate in a game Thursday afternoon. His car was escorted through the city by Motorcycle Officer Bruno Killshek.

1,192 CHILDREN PUT $318 IN SCHOOL BANK

Menasha—Three hundred and eighteen dollars and seventy-nine cents were deposited last week by 1,192 pupils of the public and parochial schools. The amount deposited by each school was: First ward, 272 depositors, $31.91; Second ward, 55 depositors, $16.82; Third ward, 59 depositors, $7.31; Fifth ward, 125 depositors, $26.05; St. Mary, 323 depositors, $55.96; St. John, 89 depositors, $27.33; St. Patrick, 29 depositors, $7.13; Menasha high school, 158 depositors, $57.63; St. Mary high, 19 depositors, $4.40; bank, 3, $53.60.

THIEVES STEAL TWO TIRES FROM GARAGE

Menasha—Tire thieves entered Herman Lux's garage at 760 London-st Wednesday night and stole two tires. They were working on the third tire and had it partially removed when apparently they were frightened away. Entrance was gained with the use of a skeleton key.

ROTARY CLUB HOLDS MEETING IN EVENING

Menasha—Menasha Rotary club dined with its weekly luncheon Wednesday noon and in its place held a dinner at Hotel Menasha Wednesday evening. The speaker was the Rev. Ira E. Schlagenhauf, pastor of Neenah Methodist church, who gave a talk on Roosevelt.

GREEN BAY WOMAN IS INJURED IN COLLISION

Neenah—Mrs. Charles King, Green Bay, was badly bruised at 1:15 Thursday afternoon when the car in which she and her husband were riding collided with a truck driven by Walter Lovejoy, Neenah, a drayman, at the corner of Commercial-st and Wisconsin-ave. The King car was considerably damaged. King, who was driving, attempted to make a left turn off Wisconsin-ave onto Commercial-st, witnesses said, and apparently did not see the approaching truck. He was uninjured. His wife was taken to a doctor's office where her injuries were treated.

NEENAH SOCIETY

Neenah—Misses Phyllis Peterson and Valeria Kaufman entertained a group of high school young people Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. J. Hoffman, W. Wisconsin-ave. The evening was spent in games and dancing.

Mrs. M. L. Campbell and son, Kenneth, attended a Halloween party Wednesday evening at the Mrs. E. J. MacIntyre home in Fond du Lac.

The Knights of Pythias have arranged a Halloween party for Friday evening at Castle hall. The evening will be spent in dancing and cards.

Miss Gladys Blancy entertained a party of young folks Tuesday evening at her home on Church-st. The evening was spent in playing bridge. Prizes were won by Miss Catherine Aylward and Miss Catherine Flynn.

Young People's society and Young People's department of Presbyterian Sunday school have arranged for a proper observance of Halloween Friday evening at the church. The evening will be divided into five relays, the first will be a trip through haunted places; the second in the dining room with Halloween stunts; the third in the Sunday school room with games; the fourth in ladies' parlor around the fireplace with stories and singing; and the fifth back in the dining room where supper will be served.

Mrs. W. K. Austin will entertain the D. T. card club Thursday evening at her home on Third-st. The evening will be spent in playing bridge.

SOCIAL ITEMS AT MENASHA

Menasha—Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Loesch entertained at schackopf Monday evening in honor of Mr. Loesch's birthday anniversary. Three tables were engaged and the honors were won by Henry Schmalz, and Mrs. William Bevers.

Members of the Young Ladies society of St. Patrick church will give a Halloween party Friday evening at their clubrooms. As special committee on entertainment has been appointed.

The annual bazaar given by the Christian Mothers of St. Mary church at St. Mary school hall Wednesday afternoon and evening was attended by a crowd that taxed the capacity of the building. The ladies commenced serving at 3:30 in the afternoon and were kept busy until 8 o'clock. The bazaar closes Thursday night with the awarding of prizes. Thursday afternoon was children's day and a card party was given in connection with it.

BUY 2,000 TONS OF STRAW FOR PAPERMILL

Menasha—Mayor J. H. Dennhardt of Neenah and George J. Mayer of Menasha, who are buying straw to be used by the Menasha Paper Mills, formerly the Island Paper company, have already purchased more than 2,000 tons from bales in Calumet and Winnebago-cos which will be delivered before the mill commences operations in December. Corrugated paper is to be the principal product of the plant. Mr. Dennhardt and Mr. Mayer expect to extend their operations to Outagamie, Fond du Lac, Green Lake, Waupaca and Waushara-cos and extend their purchases to 6,000 tons before the end of the year. The greater portion of the straw to be used by the plant will be purchased in Minnesota and the Dakotas.

MENASHA EAGLES WILL ORGANIZE ORCHESTRA

Menasha—The Fraternal Order of Eagles is preparing to organize an orchestra within the next few weeks. It already has several skilled musicians among its members and will initiate several more Thursday night and on Armistice day. Earl J. Huelbeck, a candidate of the Armistice day class, probably will be selected as director.

SENT TO MENASHA

Menasha—Ferdinand A. Jung, who was appointed cashier of the Manitowoc station of the Soo line last July, has been transferred to Menasha to take the place of Harold Foth, who has accepted a position with the Western Weighing and Inspection bureau. He will take up his new duties next week.

BEST DRAMATIC APPEAL IN TEARS AND FORTITUDE

New York—(AP)—George Cohn has said of the theatre audience: "Make 'em laugh, make 'em wait, make 'em cry!" But Victor McLaglen observed that if he were phrasing it, he would put the laughter last. "I like to send 'em away with a grin."

This started a discussion on the Fox films set of "Mother Machree" as to the form of final dramatic appeal best calculated to put the sum of the play's values across to the audience.

"Everybody likes to cry," said Belle Bennett. "We like to learn that in our busy lives we can feel so much unselfish sympathy for the other fellow. If an audience goes out drying its eyes, you may be sure people are satisfied with the play because it has made them satisfied with themselves."

"That's a new angle," admitted McLaglen, "and it is a fact that pathos is the eloquent interpreter of roles. Humor, tragedy, melodrama all respond to pathos. A bit at the end of a clever play will go far toward summing up all its values."

"There is one value, however, the

WHOOPIING COUGH SPREADING HERE

Eleven Cases Are Recorded by City Health Department, Records Show

Eleven cases of whooping cough are listed on the records of the health department, Theodore Sanders, deputy health officer, reported Thursday. The disease, which is recognized as one of the most troublesome of contagious diseases, has been on the increase here for the past three months, and particular care should be taken by parents that their children do not become unnecessarily exposed, Mr. Sanders pointed out.

Whooping cough made its first appearance of the season here last August when five cases were recorded that month. Six cases were reported the following month, and the number has almost doubled in October.

One of the principal causes for the spread of the disease is the failure of those families in which one member has become afflicted to call a doctor, according to Mr. Sanders. The children are permitted to run around until they become so ill they must remain in bed, thus exposing others.

Whooping cough usually lasts from six to eight weeks. It is dangerous in severe cases because children often times almost become strangled, necessitating continual watch of them by their parents. No deaths have resulted from the disease in Appleton lately although such an occurrence is not unusual, it is said.

Adults seldom contract the disease.

ADVERTISING LIFTS STANDARD--COOLIDGE

tinuo to maintain all of these high standards in wages, in output, and in consumption indefinitely, and with our home markets as a foundation increase our foreign commerce.

"But nothing would appear to be plainer than that this all depends upon the maintenance of our American scale of wages, which is the main support of our home market.

"It is to be seen that advertising is not an economic waste. It ministers to the true development of trade."

HONESTY IS ESSENTIAL
Mr. Coolidge held honesty in business to be the only method of permanent success and declared "there can be no permanent basis for advertising except a representation of the exact truth."

"If our commercial life," he continued, "is to be clean and wholesome and permanent in the last resort, it will be because those who are engaged in it are determined to make it so. The ultimate reformers of business must be the business men themselves."

progress and prosperity, are very intimately connected with the commerce that flows from agriculture and industry."

The President said that if this commerce were not in a healthy condition "want and distress" eventually would creep into the home.

COUNTRY IS PROSPEROUS
The country "in the main" has been and is prosperous, he asserted, and "perhaps the most creditable aspect of our present prosperity is that wages are high while profits have been moderate."

"From recent fear of being exploited by large aggregations of wealth," he continued, "the people of America are learning to make such great concerns their most faithful servants. This problem is not entirely solved yet. Here and there abuses occur, but business is gradually being taught that the only method of permanent success lies in an honest, faithful, conscientious service to the public."

Mr. Coolidge enumerated certainment of the national debt, decrease of federal employees, tax reduction, limitation of naval armaments, smaller national defense appropriations, the loaning of money for rehabilitation work in Europe and the financing of South America "to the advantage of our foreign commerce" as contributions of the administration "to peace and prosperity during the reconstruction period."

"All of this has been a program of constructive economy," he concluded, "beneficial alike to ourselves and to other people. In making this economically possible, in spreading its benefits, in carrying its fruits into

These sugar coated, pleasant to take, tablets should be given to children instead of the vile stomach-upsetting oil itself--they surely do help the frail, delicate little ones and 60 tablets cost but 60 cents at Solberg Bros. or any druggist.

Read this letter if you have a child that needs to gain health and strength:

"My little girl was stricken with infantile paralysis when she was 5 months old and was an invalid for 9 years--when I saw an ad in the paper that McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets 'would build up wasted tissues. I bought a box and she gained very slowly at first and after taking eight boxes, she gained seven pounds. Thanks to McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, after trying almost everything else on the market. She is on the road to recovery and goes to school every day."

tory but he said, every effort should be exerted by election boards to eliminate as far as is humanly possible the chance for mistakes by reading the laws and becoming familiar with procedures prescribed.

It was extremely fortunate, County Clerk John E. Hantschel declared, that it was possible to procure both Judge Heinemann and Mr. Tomkins as speakers at the convention so closely follows a revaluation of the county and the recent recount of votes.

Mr. Tomkins dealt largely with the revaluation of the county as conducted by himself and 11 assistants who worked in Outagamie county for some time before they submit their final report to the Wisconsin tax commission.

NOT UNUSUAL
"You should be interested in equalization of your county," Mr. Tomkins declared in opening his address, "although apparently the representatives of the city of Appleton hold opinion that something extraordinary has happened in your county."

"The revaluation made by the commission for 1925 was not an unusual condition nor did it establish such. The values closely follow urban and rural trends elsewhere."

"Values of rural districts have seen a marked decrease since 1921 while cities and villages have shown an unprecedented increase."

Cities in Wisconsin have shown an increase of $357,000,000 while rural districts have shown a decrease of $127,000,000, Mr. Tomkins declared. The real estate assessment in Appleton for 1921 was $19,553,660 and in 1925 it was $24,649,575.

The county board, the speaker continued, was informed of these facts through the income assessor and he declared that an improper equalization in 1925 could not be attributed to ignorance.

CANT BE UPSET
"Old time log-rolling methods of baffling the country members were resorted to, culminating in a revaluation of the entire county by the tax commission," Mr. Tomkins asserted.

Mr. Tomkins concluded by pointing out that he doubts that the revaluation as certified by the tax commission could be upset through appeal to the courts.

Twenty-nine of the clerks of the county were present. County Clerk Hantschel played a large part in arranging the details of the convention which was considered the most successful of any held so far.

The morning session held in the municipal courtroom was devoted almost entirely to transacting routine business and discussing technicalities involved in fulfilling the duties of clerk in the most efficient manner.

EKERN DOES HIS BIT

Mr. Ekern, performing his last political rites in behalf of Mr. Blaine, says that Zimmerman and Judge Rosa have entered into a conspiracy to keep Wisconsin from having Progressive representation in the United States senate. Mr. Ekern's charge is based on the doctrine of lese-majeste.

The reason, and the only reason, why the Progressivism of Zimmerman and Rosa is questioned by these pseudo reformers is that they have refused to accept dictation by the Blaine ring in the field of office aspiration. So long as Mr. Zimmerman did what the ring told him to do, supported its candidates and did not run for office himself, he was a good Progressive. The minute he aspired to the office of secretary of state he was a heretic, but Mr. Zimmerman ran, with the approval of the late Senator LaFollette, and beat Mr. Blaine's own candidate. Likewise, when he aspired to the governorship, he became persona non grata to the ring simply because he would not accept its backroom decision that Ekern should be the next governor. This made him a reactionary, in the eyes of the ring, and unworthy of further confidence.

When he went out single-handed and beat the ring and its candidate his villainous conduct was beyond pardon. He could no longer, so the ring decreed, represent himself to be a Progressive. Does not this seem to be a bit childish and a bit dishonest to the rank and file of Progressive voters throughout Wisconsin? Mr. Zimmerman's record as a Progressive had never been questioned until he aspired first to be secretary of state and then governor, but all this while he had the confidence and approval of the late Senator LaFollette. It would seem that Mr. LaFollette's indorsement was a better testimonial of his party standing than would be that of Blaine and the Madison ring after Mr. LaFollette's death.

The same applies to Judge Rosa. He is a well-known Progressive who has been identified with the administration for a number of years. He was appointed to the State Tax commission by Blaine himself, and certainly Mr. Blaine would not appoint to this important office anyone but a dyed-in-the-wool Progressive. Judge Rosa, therefore, so far as his political principles go, stands as an accredited and established Progressive and nothing Mr. Blaine or Mr. Ekern may now say can obscure the fact. Yet because Judge Rosa elects to run as a candidate for senator against Mr. Blaine he is immediately denounced as a renegade and a reactionary. It is evident that Mr. Blaine's and Mr. Ekern's estimate of Progressive government means a closed corporation, with those at the top possessing dictatorial powers and deciding arbitrarily who shall hold office and who shall not, leaving nothing whatever to the people or to the ambitions of colleagues who wish to advance in public life.

Certainly a fair-minded public is not going to accept this species of politics for long. Certainly its humbuggery and fraud will finally be driven home to even the most obtuse partisan. That the people are beginning to see through the sham and intrigue is shown by Mr. Ekern's defeat in the primary and by the near defeat of Blaine. The healthiest thing that could happen to Wisconsin, that is, within practical bounds, would be the election of not only Zimmerman for the governorship, but the election of Rosa to the senate. Both as Progressive as Blaine or Ekern ever thought of being. Their election would put an end to the Madison ring and smash a combination whose constant and only purpose is to raise itself to political place and power to the exclusion of all others, and whose record, utterances and attitude show that it cares nothing whatever for Progressive principles, but only for self-advancement.

NO KLAN ISSUE IN WISCONSIN

The Ku Klux Klan "issue" in Wisconsin is a myth. In the first place, the Klan does not exist in Wisconsin, in the sense that it has any influence or is of any consequence. The fuss that has been raised about the Klan is merely a sideshow to draw attention away from the main facts and questions of the election. We do not know whether Mr. Zimmerman, for instance, was once a member of the Klan or not. Affidavits that he was have been presented and at least one of them has been repudiated by the maker. Mr. Zimmerman denies he is a member. Whether he was or not makes no particular difference. He is not now, and, as we have said, the Klan is a negligible institution in this state. What applies to Mr. Zimmerman, so far as the Klan is concerned, applies to other candidates. We should not link this organization up with our government or politics. It has no place in either and it can have no place, except as we are foolish enough to give it by permitting it to influence our votes and attitude in elections. The best way to treat the Klan where it has no real foothold is to ignore it. Should it become strong enough in this state to make itself felt, which is wholly improbable, and it should attempt seriously to inject itself into our politics, that will be time enough to deal with it.

The point we are making is that the Klan is not worth while bothering about. It is for practical purposes an intangible nothing. Why take notice of it? The issues that count in the election next week and that will continue to count in state elections, are taxation, economy, honesty and efficiency in government, conservation, constructive management of state institutions, the sound promotion of education, wise public improvements, clean vs. machine politics, suppression of the demagogue and of his appeals to class animosities and misunderstanding.

The Klan in Wisconsin is of infinitesimal importance compared to any one of these questions. It has forced itself into the politics of other states but we should not let it do so here. There is, as we have said, no occasion for it, because the Klan is nothing in Wisconsin in social and civic life.

A LITTLE BOY NO LONGER

Jackie Coogan's bob is gone. The Coogans have seen the writing on the wall for a long time. They knew Jackie's baby days were numbered, and that the time would come when that bob of his, instead of being the symbol of sweet babyhood, would bring forth raucous jeers as the rabble yelled, "get a haircut, Jackie!"

Parents who own no million dollar chicks shed a little tear for the Coogans, not so much because their treasure child grown up may not mean treasure, but because they no longer have a little boy.

Just Folks by Edgar A. Guest

YOU
If you have the will to learn, knowledge you can surely gain.
It is need for you to earn, you can have what books contain.
All the wisdom of the age waits for you on many a shelf.
But to know the printed page you must read it for yourself.
Lad, remember as you go, not in other lies your fate,
What you wish to be and know rests with you alone to state.
Give no thought to chance or luck, only they who work are wise.
Fortune often smiles on pluck, victory comes to him who tries.
Each must for himself decide what his destiny shall be,
Each must in himself take pride.
None from such a choice is free.
Reputation must be earned, if you'd own a worthy name.
Never must your feet be turned to the crooked paths of shame.
Life is something you must plan, what you will be you must say.
Chance will never make a man, thus the thoughtless go astray.
Pleasure will not make you great.
By your courage let men see
As you work and as you wait, what you've willed yourself to be.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician And Author

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

WHAT TO DO WITH UNBURNED FUEL
In one way I am sorry I have asserted to often and so arbitrarily that there is no such condition or disease as rheumatism, because many very good physicians still employ the meaningless term to refer to a certain group of more or less homologous diseases, such physicians being unconcerned about the misleading effect the use of this term has upon the lay mind. Rheumatism, as a word, is derived from Greek term which originally meant a flow or flux, especially a watery discharge from the nose, known since the dark ages as a "cold." This idea still clings to the term rheumatism. In the lay mind, and I fear some such notion hovers in the background of the medical mind where this misleading term is still employed. In another way I am glad to reiterate as often as possible that there is no such condition or disease as rheumatism, for by my voice ever so feeble this does tend to plant doubt in the mind of the younger reader, at any rate, and that will inevitably make physicians a little more cautious about perpetrating the rheumatism hoax on intelligent patients.

Among the various booklets or popular manuals which the prolific Dr. Barker of Johns Hopkins has gotten out lately is one entitled "Rheumatism: Its Meaning and Menace," and in this little book the indefatigable author firmly but gently assures the reader that "as a single entity 'rheumatism' has disappeared. We can afford to let it go, for we lose nothing. We shall not use the word 'rheumatism' again in this book as a name for any specific disease, but only (and then but rarely) as a designation for a whole group of diseases." A remarkable conclusion—to make the word which has disappeared designate a whole group of diseases! Nevertheless Dr. Barker, in collaboration with Dr. Cole, does give the lay reader a clear conception of the nature of the diseases which he so designates. Appleton publishes the little book and the public library probably has it.

Last time we quoted about uric acid you may remember that I brushed aside all your hypothetical or impertinent questions and gave as the consensus of modern medical opinion the view that any excess of uric acid found by chemical examination of the blood or any deposits of sodium monourate in the joints or soft tissues of the body should be considered rather a secondary feature than a cause of or explanation for the patient's trouble. Such findings (not mere assumptions) indicate, according to most recent knowledge, that the patient has been consuming too much uric acid forming food but rather that his metabolism or oxidation process is a little slow.

All uric acid, whether that which is normally present in the blood in health, or the excess which may be present in various disease conditions such as pneumonia, nephritis, leucemia and gout, is derived from the incomplete oxidation of nitrogenous material, and such material may be the food one eats or the nuclear substance of body cells which are being burned up as fuel to supply the heat or energy required to run the body. If nitrogenous food or nuclear cell substance is completely burned or oxidized in the body, no uric acid is produced, but instead the material is burned into urea and this waste matter eliminated through the kidneys and intestines. If examination reveals much unburned fuel of this sort in the blood or the tissues, the cue is clear: Look to the diets.

Answer.—Except the incomparable Mary Garden, seems as though most singers get nice and fat caroling. But let that not discourage you. Following the visit of William Jennings at the high school the previous day, democratic supporters among the students held a big demonstration for their party. Fred Nelson dressed as Uncle Sam acted as chairman of the meeting. The speakers included Roy Fetting, Florence Miller, Ethel Durick, Howard Farrand, Eleanor Hallis, Ruth Ryan, Robert Morrow.

The Misses Ethel Carter and Mary Reid left that afternoon for Madison to attend the annual Wisconsin-Chicago football game.

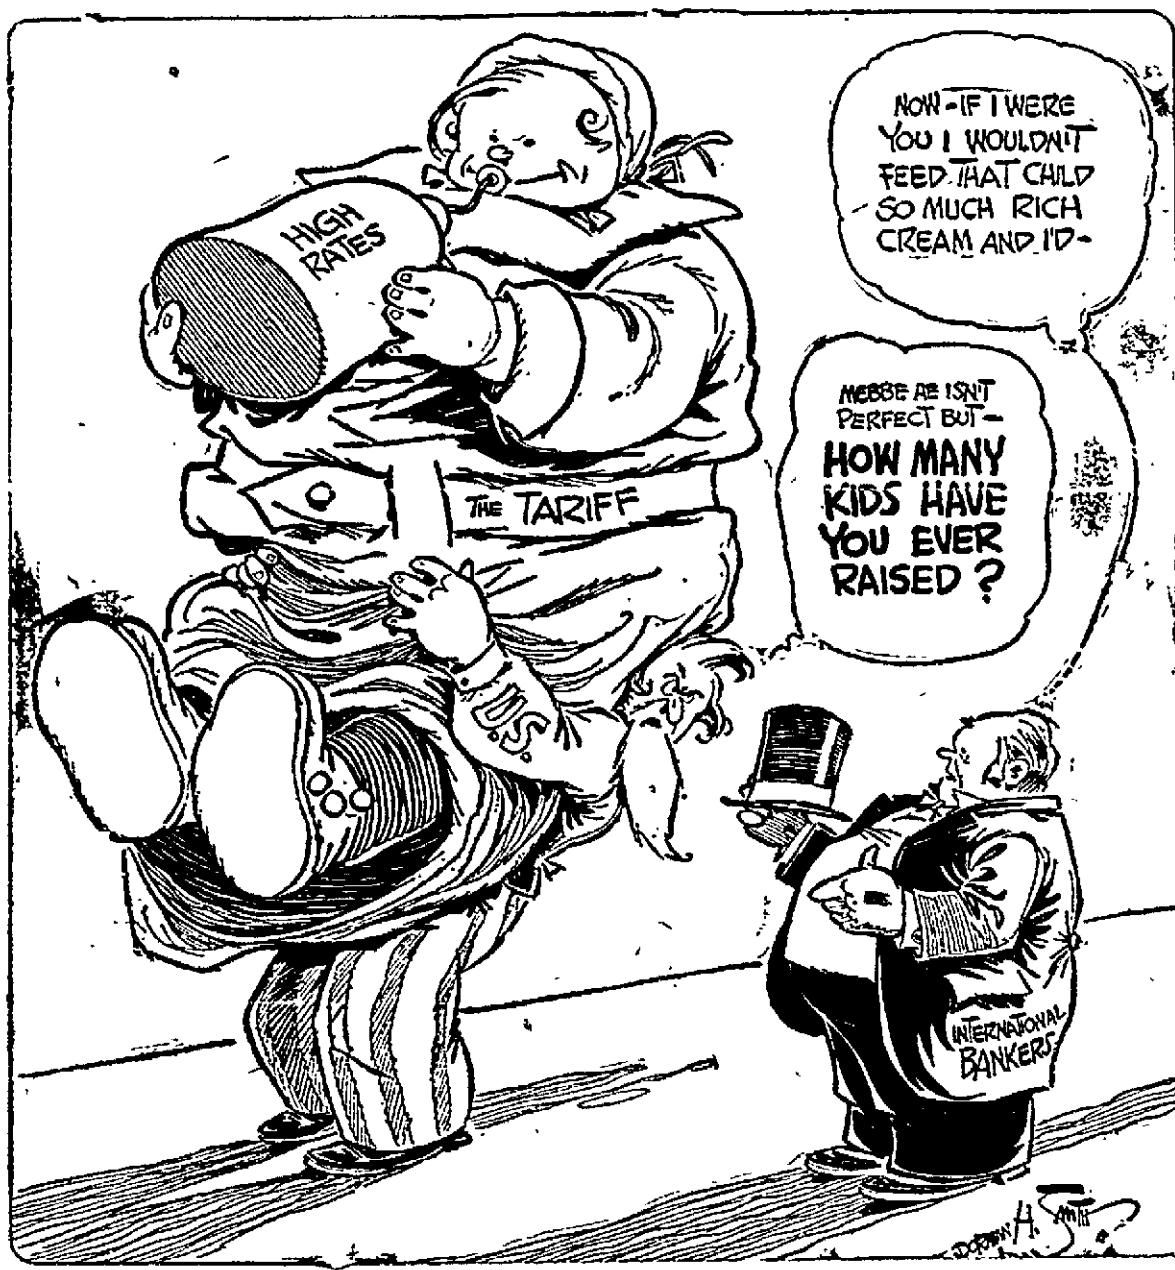

Michael McCarthy, who lived in the town of Freedom, had the distinction of having the highest auto license number in this part of the state. The license tag which he received that morning was numbered 114,883.

Members of the West End Club club surprised Mrs. Nicholas Noonan at her home at Kimberly the previous night. Prizes at cards were won by Mrs. E. E. Clemens, Mrs. R. G. Mehlman, Mrs. R. W. School and Mrs. E. A. Perkins.

Mrs. G. W. Jones, 675 Park-ave, entertained members of the Fiction Circle at a Halloween supper the previous night.

A marriage license was issued that morning by County Clerk Wolf to Andrew Eisenreich and Clara Henn, both of Seymour.

Advice From the Bachelor Friend

HASKIN WRITES TODAY

Washington, D. C.—If the public accepts as authoritative the report of the Federal Oil Conservation Board that there is only enough oil in sight in this country to last six years, automobile manufacturers, dealers, and salesmen shortly will be out of luck. Without oil there can be no gasoline, and without gasoline an automobile is quite as useless as a sailing vessel without a sail, or an ox-cart without an ox.

However, the findings of the Board have been disseminated widely, and yet there has been no resultant slump in the exchange quotations on the stocks of the principal companies in the automotive industry. Nor has there been any indication that automobile dealers are running to cover, or taking on ice and coal, or any other sideline to bolster up a faltering business, and if any salesmen have switched to other activities their number is not sufficient to create a furore in the employment world.

This might be regarded as passing strange in view of the fact that the United States is so dependent upon oil and its most important product, gasoline, for transportation, industry, national defense, recreation, and travel. With the exception of foodstuffs, says one authority, oil is the most vital of the necessities in this industrialized age, and it is far more of a necessity in this than in any other country in the world.

In the circumstances the only accepted explanation of the national tranquility in the face of the official warning of an eminent exhaustion of the oil supply is that Americans either are prone to sleep on the grass and let come what may, or they are chronic optimists who will not believe in the possibility of catastrophe until it actually overtakes them. Some of the experts who are studying the problem say that both alternatives of the explanation are soundly based. Americans are shortsighted, careless, and wasteful, they say, and they have an optimism that is predicted on the ability of American genius to meet every emergency that may arise.

In their optimism they are encouraged, first by the oil people who declare that new and adequate oil supplies will be developed; second, by the shale people who assert that there is enough oil-bearing shale in sight in the country to provide all the oil and gasoline—that will be needed for centuries, and, third, by scientists who promise to develop a new fuel that will

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

NIGHT-SHIFT POLICEMAN, BANE OF INSECTS

BY ARTHUR N. PAX

President, Antioch Nature Ass'n.

When the lengthening shadows have given away to gathering darkness, the bat begins his day.

Slipping noiselessly from his hiding place in some thick-leaved tree, behind the closed shutters of a deserted building, or from the dusty recesses of some little-frequented attic, he launches into the air, intent on satisfying his growing hunger.

First he usually seeks the nearest water, and, dipping gracefully to the surface, slips his full, for his has been a dry bed-chamber.

Then he starts his hunting for his winged prey, for with all of the species of temperate climates, and with all except a few of the tropics, living insects alone are eaten.

Though much has been written about his diet, the fact remains that very little is positively known about the groups of insects most commonly taken. Many moths are secured and many believe that mosquitoes in large numbers fall prey to these tireless policemen of the night.

Though not without their own peculiar species of vermin—for practically none of earth's creatures are free from some annoying parasite—bats do not carry bedbugs.

Their entire life is spent in man's service, for without them and their fellow hunters it is altogether probable that man long ago would have succumbed to the attacks of his myriads of ad-breeding foes, the insects. All day long, from early day to dark, the birds wage ceaseless war; when darkness falls the friendly bat joins the night shift.

Brown Bat

United States can contribute to assured future supplies.

Continued exploration for the extension of known sands and deeper sands in known fields, and continued exploration for new fields, are the first suggestions offered. Then it is pointed out that systematic research and experiment upon methods of securing a larger proportion of oil from the sands, and in new methods and cheaper costs in refining and cracking oils, and in waste elimination, will be a further step. Co-operative methods in the same development of new fields to prevent wasteful flush-flow and overproduction are also suggested to the oil producing industry, as well as the expansion of American holdings in foreign oil fields. Then, too, engine builders are urged to research and application of more economical use of petroleum products.

The Board does not say anything about the propensity of many American automobile drivers to step on the gas, regardless of necessity therefore, or of the wastage that grows out of the use of cars that is not necessary to business and does not contribute to real, wholesome recreation. Probably it considered that suggestions along that line would not accomplish any good, and might be somewhat generally resented.

Since the publication of the report Colorado people have come to the front with assertion that they have in their State shale deposits bearing 70,000,000,000 barrels of oil. Since there are a dozen or more other States that have extensive shale resources, and since effective processes for extracting the oil from shale have been developed, it would seem that there is no occasion as yet and will not be for a century or two, for a national scare over an oil shortage.

Meanwhile science will be working on a substitute fuel for gasoline. In France it has just been announced that a method of using charcoal to run motor engines has been found, and while it is not understood that it is adapted to small passenger or pleasure cars, it can be used to run a truck or a bus, sooner or later it will be made generally available.

See-Sawing On Broadway

By Gilbert Swan

New York—They call him Johnny Uptown.

In all the big parade of old and eccentric Manhattan folk none is more typical of New York.

He belongs to the exclusive inner group of oddities that include the champion gate-crashers, the chewing-gum scrapers of Pennsylvania station and the silk-hatted doorman of the Metropolitan Opera, who knows 1,000 celebrities by name.

Of course, Johnny Uptown isn't his name. It was fastened on him because of his habit of saying, when asked where he was going:

"Oh, I'm on my way uptown."

Tradition has it that Johnny is worth something like a million dollars. This probably is exaggeration; but certain it is that he has money.

He always has wanted to be in the "center" of things, part of the hectic movement and rush of the city. He wanted to be in the picture when things were going on. What good money, thought Johnny, if all you can do is spend it!

So he created an unusual job. He appeared on Park Row many years ago and began to look the newspapers over, particularly the sports departments. He learned that editors of various newspaper departments wanted copies of comic strips as soon as they came from the press.

Johnny started a service. He planted men in the press rooms and saw to it that the very first papers reached the city desks with all possible speed. Today Johnny can walk into any press room. He's an established figure. He gets the first papers off the press and then goes speeding on his way to distribute them.

In this manner he gets plenty of action and has a stand-in that makes him not only a neat wage but a public figure.

If perchance, upon visiting New York and walking into the lobby of a theater upon a second or third night, you see an immaculately-clad man, in full evening regalia, with diamond studs in his shirt and a "city" manner about him—don't get the idea that you have seen a movie celebrity. The chances are that it will have been Johnny Uptown.

Johnny goes everywhere. The papers give him passes, and when they don't, he has plenty of money to pay his way. His apparel and manner are those of a young society man. You'll see him at the ringside at fights and at the race tracks on opening days; you'll see him at the theaters and the movies—you'll see him at all the places where the crowd goes.

Johnny Uptown is distinctly "of New York" and to the New York manner born.

Even the smallest towns have their odd and eccentric characters, but New York has certain individuals as distinctive as the new skyline or the pushcarts.

Q. Please inform me where the potato got the name of Irish and by whom the name was given. G. E. L.

A. The Irish potato is so-called because of its general cultivation and use in Ireland. There is no record of the individual who first used this term.

Q. Is there an overhead heating system? P. M. C.

A. There is a type of heating, which may be known to some as oblique heating, that is commonly used in school buildings, etc., but not in residences, the heat being introduced into the top of the room and the cold air being drawn off at the bottom.

Q. Are accidents in the United States decreasing or increasing? F. C. S.

A. The National Safety Council says that with the exception of traffic accidents, practically all other classes are decreasing.

Q. What are the total revenue receipts of the state governments? A. M. S.

A. According to a recent statement of the Bureau of the Census the total revenue receipts in 1925 of the governments of the 48 states were $1,485,242,240. The per capita receipts amounted to $13.19.

Q. Is Gene Tunney married? M. I. C.

A. Gene Tunney has never been married.

Q. What substance or liquid, if any, will penetrate or destroy steel? V. G. S.

100 WITNESSES TO BE HEARD IN TRIAL OF HALL-MILLS CASE

Circumstantial Evidence to Bear Important Part in Murder Trial

Somerville, N. J., (AP)—There are more than 100 principal witnesses ready for the trial of the persons accused for murder of Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, fashionable New Brunswick church pastor, and his choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, which will start Nov. 3.

The prosecution has announced the names of 80 "principal witnesses," most of whom have circumstantial testimony. They were gathered through a campaign of newspaper publicity, by State Senator Alexander Simpson, who said when the case was re-opened this summer, four years after the killings:

"I will turn this investigation from secrecy to openhandedness."

PICTURE OF DERUSSEY'S LANE
Some of the witnesses thus obtained came from far corners of the country, but the most surprising development was the number of persons discovered who claimed to be within a short distance of the scene of the killing the night it occurred.

One question likely to be most often asked, will be, "where were you on the night of Sept. 1, 1922?" That was the night of the killing. State investigators say they have 25 witnesses who will reply to that question: "In De Russey's Lane."

It was in De Russey's Lane that the bodies of the pastor of the Church of St. John the Evangelist and his choir leader were found, with a dozen of her love letters lying between them. De Russey's Lane, just on the outskirts of New Brunswick, today is a subdivision. But when the pastor and his wife were killed, it was a lonely place it was undeveloped country, a dirt road running into Milltown Pike.

CRABAPPLE TREE SOUVENIRS
The crabapple tree where the bodies were found long since disappeared. Parts of it were carried away by souvenir hunters. And bits of wood, twigs and branches purporting to have been cut from it were sold on the streets of New York by vendors.

Another famous "figure" in the case also has vanished. This is "Jenny," the mule ridden by Mrs. Jane Gibson, who said she witnessed the killing and saw Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, the pastor's widow, Willie Stevens, her brother, and Edward de la Bruyere Carpenter, her cousin, at the spot, their faces revealed in the glare of the headlights of an automobile.

The defense plans to call more than 25 witnesses, but has not given publicity to its evidence.

ARMY OPTIMISTIC IN FUN CAMPAIGN

Additional Solicitors Are Appointed to Aid in Drive Work

With the additional appointment this week of several new solicitors to aid in conducting the annual campaign of the Salvation Army for funds, the numbering of persons working to raise the $4,000 quota was increased to approximately 30, it was reported Wednesday at Army headquarters.

Although no accurate report on the amount of money raised Tuesday was available, officials of the organization are optimistic, believing that the goal will be realized this year. By Monday evening, the end of the first official campaign day, approximately $1,000 already had been raised. A large part of this sum however had been subscribed through the efforts of the gift fund committee, the previous week.

Approximately 450 cards containing the names of persons in Appleton whom it is believed can afford a contribution and will be willing to do so have been prepared by the campaign committee. Although a large percentage of this number already have been interviewed by the solicitors, only two persons have refused to contribute anything, it was reported.

Schools, churches and industrial establishments are cooperating in the campaign. Subscription blanks have been circulated among employees of approximately 80 industrial plants here, and the same will be done in schools.

The campaign is scheduled to close Saturday night.

BELIEVE RURAL SCHOOL ENROLLMENT IS HIGHER

Rural school enrollment for the 1926-27 year, according to figures revealed through the first 6-weeks period examination, will probably total that of last year by about 2 to 5 per cent, it was reported by County Superintendent A. G. Meating. The total number of pupils last year was 4,554 and this year it is expected more than 5,000 will be listed. Mr. Meating said. Official statistics will not be compiled until the annual report of the department is made up after the close of the school year, it was stated.

Maybe Delilah's Guilty; Remember Sampson, John!

"Where, oh where have your whiskers gone?" Is the song the mailmen at the Appleton post office are singing for the benefit of John Freude, a rural carrier. John appeared at the office one day this week, with all his three months' crop entirely gone. The question is: Why did John cut his whiskers?

"It may be that John is paying heed to the warning issued by the postmaster that all farmers should cut their brush," one carrier said as he wisely ducked behind a convenient case to evade the missile thrown by John about that time. Another said that he thought John was a contrary "ole cuss" and was just defying Frank Letts' prophecy of a long and hard winter. Several carriers have a lot of faith in John and they have accordingly canceled their orders for coal.

Someone suggested that John had taken the side curtains off his Ford and the wind made such a noise whistling through those bristles that John couldn't tell whether or not his motor was running. Twice he stopped the car to listen whether the motor was still going, someone said. Another explanation was that the whiskers often blew into John's eyes when he was driving and caused him some trouble. John's explanation was that this was the time for his annual shave.

Halloween Eats Must Be Different If Party Is To Be A Success

TRACE LINES OF THESE WITCHES, JACK O'LANTERNS OWLS AND WHAT NOT ON A PIECE OF THIN CLOTH OR PAPER, THEN COLOR THE DESIGNS WITH CRAYON. THEY MAKE SNAPPY DECORATIONS FOR COSTUMES, LAMPSHADES, TABLE SPREADS AND LIKE.

PERHAPS you want something a little different from the traditional pumpkin pie, cider and doughnuts for your Halloween party. If so, here is a new menu for you.

Halloween Party Menu Vegetable Cocktail in Oranges
Broiled Chicken
Sweet Potato Pumpkins
Cauliflower au Gratin
Bat-wing Salad
Jack 'o Lantern Sandwiches
Mexican Parfait

If you do serve supper or just a little lunch, serve it before midnight for this is supposed to be the magic hour when things are "sure to come true." Some special stunt should be planned for the witching minutes close to midnight.

If only part of the menu is needed the salad, sandwiches, ice, cake and coffee are sure to please.

Sweet cider and nuts can be served during the evening, or salted nuts can accompany the salad and elder can take the place of coffee, or be used in addition to the regular after dinner beverage.

The cocktail is made of finely-diced raw carrot, celery, cabbage and tomato moistened with French dressing, made piquant with Worcestershire sauce. Oranges are hollowed out and faces cut in them a la Jack o'lantern. The cocktail is placed in a paper drinking cup cut down to fit the inside of the orange. The chicken is broiled as usual, the golden brown coating carrying out the color scheme.

Sweet potatoes are boiled and mashed for the "pumpkins." Season well and form into tiny pumpkins. Use a skewer to make the tiny depressions always found on pumpkins. Brush over with melted butter and use a raisin for the stem. Bake in a quick oven until brown.

The cauliflower is baked in the over until brown on top.

Bat-wing salad is unusual enough to require a recipe.

BAT-WING SALAD (INDIVIDUAL)

One slice pineapple, 3 large cooked prunes, 1 teaspoon cream cheese, 1 teaspoon peanut butter, lettuce.

Cut pineapple in half through the center. Place on a crisp lettuce leaf with the round edges toward but not touching each other. Work cheese and peanut butter together until blended, using butter to moisten. Remove stones from prunes. Stuff two with mixture and place, cut side down, between the pineapple halves to form the body of the bat. The pineapple forms the wings. Cut thin strips from the remaining prune and place them on the pineapple in such a way that they make the frame so plain in a bat's wings.

The sandwiches are round with faces cut on half the slices of bread. A sharp-pointed knife makes this work very easy. A triangle for the nose, new moon for the mouth and almond-shaped slits for eyes. The nose and mouth are filled with bits of pimento, while ripe or green olives, cut from the stones, fill the eyes.

Brown or rye bread should be used and the filling may be creamed butter, minced olives and nuts.

The Mexican parfait keeps to the yellow color scheme.

MEXICAN PARFAIT
Two cups brown sugar, 1 cup water, 6 eggs (yolks) 3 cups heavy cream, 1 pound walnut brittle, 1 dozen dry macaroons.

Put sugar and water in a smooth sauce pan and stir until melted. Then cook, without stirring, until a soft ball is formed when a few drops are tried in cold water. Pour slowly onto yolks of eggs beaten until thick. Beat constantly while adding sirup. Cook over hot water until thick. Fold in cream whipped until stiff. Put walnut brittle through food chopper. Crumble macaroons and dry for five minutes in a hot oven. Mix crumbs and brittle thoroughly and add half to the custard mixture. Turn into mold, pack in ice, and salt and let stand four hours or longer. Serve sprinkled with remaining mixture of crumbs and walnut brittle. The freezing mixture should be three parts ice to one part salt.

A simple sponge cake is delicious to serve with the rich ice suggested, although tiny round cookies painted with melted chocolate to picture owls, faces or the proverbial witch on a broomstick, are cunning. A wooden skewer makes an excellent "brush" for this painting.

A STORY OF A GIRL OF TODAY

TROUBLE AVERTED

John Meredith got up out of his chair with a bound. To anyone who only saw him above the table, he had the grace of a trained athlete. So quickly he turned around, however, that he knocked down a waiter who was just setting down before him a covered dish from off a crowded tray.

The man fell prone to the floor and the dishes and dessert went sliding toward the other tables where there was a general upheaval.

Of course it made a great clatter and had attracted the attention of everyone in the dining room. Women screamed and drew up to even shorter length their dainty dresses and men swore under their breath and scrambled over to our table.

Jerry, hearing the noise, came in from the office with the other men and ran impulsively over to our table.

"What is the matter?"

"He hit a fight!"

"Call the police!"

There were some of the excited words that one divided into phrases as they hung above the din and cry of everyone in the restaurant.

Jerry, taking the whole thing in quickly, and seeing that if something was not done there was liable to be a regular mob, clambered up on a table and holding up his hands called out: "Ladies and gentlemen, please be seated. There is no fight. No one is angry. Nothing has happened except that Mr. Meredith, in getting up suddenly from his chair, inadvertently knocked over a waiter with a loaded tray in his arms."

"No one is hurt, not even the waiter."

A man from the other end of the room spoke up: "Hello Jerry Hathaway. Who made you master of ceremonies. Where'd you get your booby? Don't you know any better than to break up the dishes and maim the waiters in your own father's establishment?"

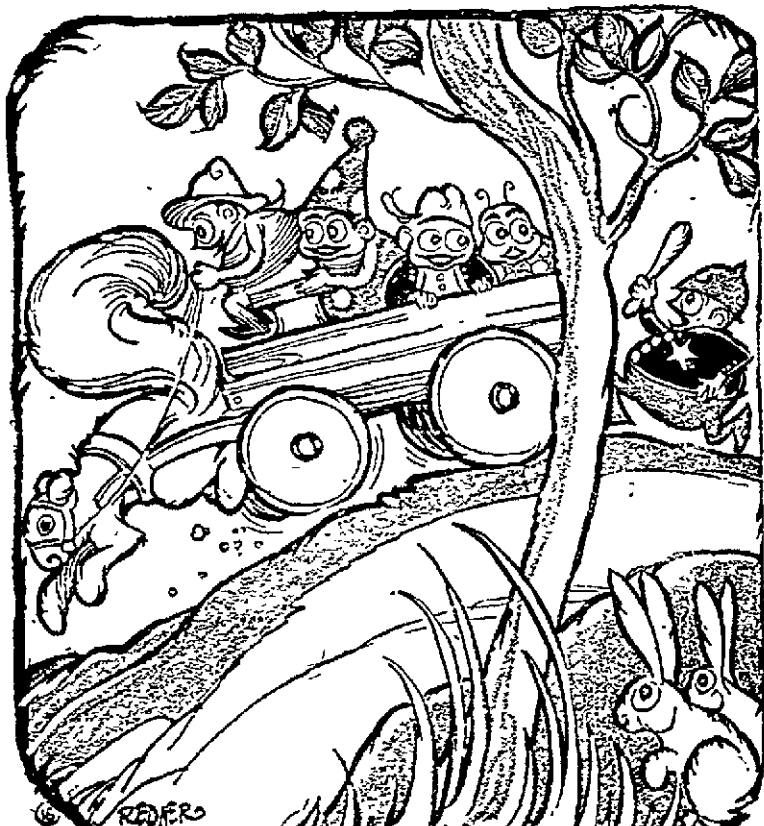

"You go way back and sit down, Jimmie. You know very well there is no booze ever served in this restaurant."

There was a general laugh at this as the company sat down.

"What really did happen, Judy?"

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tynymites all overslept, but Mister Squirrel a close watch kept, and as the sun rose o'er the hills, he tickled Scouty's toes. Right quick he jumped, and as he dressed, he shouted loud to all the rest, "Come on, you Sleepy Tynymites! You're lazy, goodness knows."

The little mites ran here and there. Their clothes had been thrown everywhere. They might have dressed real quick, but it took them rather long. "You see," said Scouty, "carelessness, is what's to blame for this, I guess. You never hang your clothing up although you know it's wrong."

However, in an hour or so, the band was dressed and set to go. So they rushed to find the cart they found made the day before. They found it out beneath the trees and hunched their squirrel up with ease. Then Clowny did a funny thing that made the others roar.

He hopped into the little cart. A nail ripped Clowny's waist apart. As he was trying to get aboard, of course he had to slip. "That's what you get," wee Carpy cried, "for trying to be the first inside." Then Scouty went to Clowny's aid and sewed the little rip.

At last the cart was filled up full, and Mister Squirrel was set to pull the happy little band upon a trip of wondrous kind. They pushed and squirmed and shouted loud, "Get off my toes. Hey, please don't crowd." A wilder, stranger party I am sure you'd never find.

Then Scouty shouted, in dismay, "I simply will not ride this way. I fear we'll break our cart. Why, I can hear it crack and crack." He then jumped quickly to the ground. The next thing that the others found was Scouty bravely riding on the little squirrel's back.

because I had never felt that great mental intoxication.

"What are you saying to John Meredith and what is he saying to you?" whispered Jerry in my other ear. "Your eyes are like stars and the color keeps going and coming in your cheeks making them first white and then like damask roses."

I turned to Jerry—good old Jerry, who, from the moment his eyes had rested on mine, had looked at me with unutterable love.

I knew that whatever could happen to me, I had only to glance in his direction to bring him to me immediately. I might hurt him but I could not keep him from loving me. Jerry would never be anything else but a man to care for me and to make my way easier in life.

Suddenly I felt my eyes fill with tears. I thanked God for letting me know Jerry. Whether it was love or not that I felt for him now, it was something that made my heart glad whenever I thought of him and sensed his protection.

But again I could not help asking myself: "Is this the real love that would last until death? Is it part? Is it the kind of love that marriage would consummate and make holy?"

I did not know.

There was only one thing that I did know—it would probably never be so thrilling as to keep me catching my breath, that came hot and cold to minister to the moods of my lover.

Could one live in the tarified atmosphere of passionate love always? Would one get used to the calmness and sweetness of companionship?

Again, on the other side of me John Meredith whispered, "Look at me, Judy, and tell me what you are thinking about. What makes your eyes narrow? What makes you pull that soft red mouth which my lips are aching to kiss into that decisive straight line? Judy, you must be, tonight, all softness and sweetness, you must be to me my dream of love only."

"God, I did not think loving was like this; it hurts, it hurts. I've often dreamed of love but it only came to me as something which would make me incapable of thinking. Tonight my brain is full of thoughts, long, long thoughts, great ideas, magnificent amusements. Judy do you know that tonight I am a god, straight and perfect—yes, I am more than a god—I am a man, a man who can love and be loved—again there came the insistent crooning whisper, "You do love me, don't you, Judy?"

Without warning there came a most deafening detonation. It sounded as though it were in the room above us. In a moment everything was excitement again.

"Fire!" shouted a silly coward, and there became a panic-stricken rush toward the outside door, which against them all opened inward.

John reached for me and caught me from under the maddened feet of a half drunken man who was muttering "Let me get out; let me get out!" and moving down everyone in the way of his exit.

"Here, here, damn you, who do you think you are!" shouted a man as he casually knocked him down and yelled: "Stay, this is another tray of baked Alaska!"

"No," answered Jerry, who was helping Mamie and Joan toward the door.

Then he turned to the crowd behind him and shouted: "Don't push; I don't know what is happening any more than you, but I am sure if the men in this crowd will keep from showing their yellow streaks and walk slowly ahead, everything will be—"

Again another explosion. "The hell there will," someone screamed, "there goes the front of the whole building!" (Copyright, 1926, NEA Service, Inc.) TOMORROW: John's Chance.

102 Women Plunge In "Y" Pool

Classes for matrons at the Y. M. C. A. swimming pool used by the women on Wednesdays are growing in popularity. Miss Agnes Vanneman, physical director at the Appleton Womens club and supervisor at the pool, announced after the classes Wednesday. The group meeting at 10:30 in the morning has increased over its original enrollment but there is room for more entrants, the director said.

One hundred and two women attended the classes Wednesday. Groups having the greatest numbers were the 5:30 and 7 o'clock in the evening. These are open to business and professional girls.

Life saving courses were started with nine girls. The junior and senior Red Cross life saving tests will be given at the completion of the eight week course and it is probable that a second course will be given later in the winter for the other applicants who pass the preliminary tests, Miss Vanneman said.

Junior life savers have taken the responsibility for guarding the pool during the school children's period at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Miss Betty Meyer, Miss Janice Reese, and Miss Margaret Keller have served and others will be on duty at future classes. These girls have passed the American Red Cross life saving tests for juniors and have voluntarily offered their services, it was said.

SPOOK PARTY AT CICERO SCHOOL

A Halloween program will be given Friday evening at the Maple Lawn school at Cicero. A pie social and candy sale will be given in connection with the program.

Pupils of the school will sing a group of songs including "Halloween is Here," "When the Frosty Days are Here," "Halloween Song," "That Old Pumpkin Pie." A group of dialogues will be given including "The Automobile Ride," "The Little Witches," "Turning the Tables," "Peter-in-the-Pot," and "The Little Pumpkin Faces." Orval Meyer will give a recitation, "Goblins." Merlyn Mory, "Making the Jack-o-Lantern," Mable Blick, "All Halloween," Hildagard Piechocki, "Ghost Time," Cornelius Van Laushoven, "Leonard and the Pumpkin," and Leonard Schnable, "The Merry Night." The program will close with a song "Jack O' Lanterns" by eight pupils. Mrs. Deane Rohm Rube is teacher at the school.

FIVE APPLETON WOMEN ATTEND DIOCESAN MEET

Five Appleton women representing three local Catholic societies attended the annual meeting of the Green Bay Diocesan Council of Catholic Women Wednesday at Allouez Community house at Green Bay. Thirteenth Child Born
To New London Couple

Special to Post-Crescent

New London—If one son in the course of fifty years can become president of the United States what may not eight sons do?

This question and many more like it have risen in the minds of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Freiburger since the birth of their eighth son, Jerome, who was born Tuesday evening. Little Jerome, it may be casually mentioned, is the thirteenth child born to the Frei-burgers, 12 of whom are living. Alice, aged 18 heads the list, followed by William, Arthur, Norbert, David, Helen, Kenneth, Maurice Eunice Bernard,
Anne and Jerome.

Mr. Freiburger claims to have the largest family in the city and proudly states that they are all healthy, sturdy children, a blessing apparently as well as a great responsibility. The cares of a father do not weigh the spirits of

NEW LONDON

Mr. Freiburger who describes the manner in which he is bringing them up.
They are all taught to work, he states. The boys are expert dish washers and are proud of it. They know the ins and outs of household work as well as many girls and though having all the facilities of brothers who enjoy scraps and roughhouse they are first hand helpers and are also being taught to aid in caring for their smaller brothers and sisters. Alice has completed high school and is assistant at the city library. She finds time for a post graduate course of stenography at the high school and between times when she is making her own clothes, baking bread for the family, aiding with the family wash and ironing, she is lending a hand at the book work in her father's garage.

Alice is said to be, by those who work with her, the speediest young lady worker in these parts. She is adept in turning work aside and is aiding and charming besides. She is a living perpetual answer to the question many like to ask "what is wrong with our young people?" She answers it gallily, nothing is wrong.

The Freiburger home meets all requirements in cheerfulness and entertainment. Contrary to the supposition that all mothers with large families must stay at home and slave from dawn until dark the mother of this family finds time for a number of wholesome amusements outside her home. Efficiency, adeptness and common sense training of her children is allowing her to mingle with her boys and girls, enjoying them as they grow to maturity.

Mr. Freiburger states that if the time comes that the garage cannot support his family he will engage in farming. "They will all want education, they will need more of material things as they grow older," he reasons,
"and the farm may solve the problem if it ever presents itself. Give me a model farm with my boys as partners, and we'll make it go!"

HOMECOMING FOR COLLEGIANS OPENS WITH MASSMEETING

Parade and Parties Scheduled for Celebration Starting Nov. 12

The homecoming program for Lawrence college on Nov. 13 was announced this week by Ray Pink of Appleton, chairman of arrangements for the program of the day's events. Letters will be sent to all alumni of the school in a few days by the alumni secretary, Anders Anderson, asking them to return for the weekend of the Carroll-Lawrence football game.

A mass meeting in Lawrence Memorial chapel on Friday evening will be the first activity. Alumni of the college will talk of present and past football days, and the members of the 1925 team will be present.

Flores decorated by organizations on the campus will be features of the parade planned for Saturday morning. Heretofore only the fraternities and sororities have entered into competition for the cups awarded to the most attractive floats, but this year a third cup probably will be given to the organization having the best float which represents a group other than a sorority or fraternity. Luel Westberg of Marinette, is in charge of the parade.

ALUMNI LUNCHEON
An alumni luncheon will be held Saturday noon, the football game in the afternoon, and after the game open house will be held at the Y. W. C. A. Harnar Memorial house on E. College-ave. A dance will be given in the evening at the armory. Arrangements will be in charge by Palmer McConnell of Darlington.

Fraternity houses only will be decorated this year and cups will be awarded for the best work. Miss Helen Norris of Manitowoc, is in charge of this committee, and other members are Miss Marion Worthing of Appleton, Burton Hales of Ellsworth, Vernon Grove of Menasha and Miss Dorothy Fischl of Manitowoc.

The student senate, a representative body of class officers, officers of the 'A' College club, and representatives from various organizations, has charge of the homecoming celebration this year.

Many Good Samaritans In This Vicinity, Judge Finds

Competing in an impromptu race between Appleton, Oshkosh and Kaukauna, Appleton won early Tuesday evening in proving that the city has a heart and ears to answer a plea where aid is deserved.

In the Appleton Post-Crescent on Tuesday was a story in which the plight of an elderly woman who was stranded here and seeking a home was told. She poured forth her story to County Judge Fred V. Heinemann telling of her unfortunate predicament; how a family with whom she had resided here had left the city and how all that she asked was a chance to be self-supporting as an aid in a family where heavy work would not be required but where faithfulness to duty would be appreciated.

At 4:45 Tuesday afternoon the judge's office telephone rang for the first time in answer to the plea in behalf of the aged woman—it continued to ring until Judge Heinemann left for his home. He arose six times from the dinner table to answer calls; several times during the evening he was called, and persons willing to "adopt" the stranded woman required that the judge leave his dreams to give them information.

Wednesday morning a Kaukauna family telephoned and a few minutes later a long distance call was received from Oshkosh but to all queries only one answer could be returned.

"A home with another elderly woman who has a grandchild to support and take care of has been found where the duties will be as much that of companion as employee—in Appleton—for the applicant."

OFFER ENGINEERS' ECONOMICS COURSE

U. W. Extension Division Seminary Begins Nov. 12 at Milwaukee

Madison—(P)—A course in engineering economics for practicing engineers will begin Nov. 12 at Milwaukee under the auspices of the extension division of the University of Wisconsin, it was announced Wednesday. H. Lighty, director of the department.

The new course will be the fourth offered to practicing Milwaukee engineers during the past two years. It will differ from preceding courses in that not one but 12 experts from various departments of the university staff will give it, and also in that it will survey several fields related to one general subject.

Members of the engineering economics seminar will meet on Friday evenings in Milwaukee, will hear a lecture by a university expert and will bring their own experiences to bear upon the subject by means of a general discussion at the close of the talk.

Speakers for the seminar include Dean F. E. Turney, of the college of engineering; Prof. H. R. Trumbower; Prof. D. W. Mead, Prof. D. D. Leschocier; Prof. E. H. Elwell; Prof. G. L. Larson; Prof. S. W. Gilman and Prof. H. Jerome. Prof. O. L. Kowalka, Prof. M. G. Glaeser, Prof. J. H. Gardner and Prof. C. K. Leith.

Prof. R. S. McCaffrey gave the pioneer Milwaukee course in metallurgical research, two years ago; Prof. Edward Bennett last year offered instruction in transient phenomena and waves in electrical circuits, and this fall is giving a course in power transmission and distribution.

STAGE AND SCREEN

THUNDER THE MARVEL DOG Lovers of animals—and who is not—will find great enjoyment at the New Bijou three days starting today when "Thunder" the Marvel Dog will be seen in the latest Gotham production, "The Phantom of the Forest" with a stellar supporting cast which includes "White Fawn" the only pure white police dog in the world. The human actors are well known and include Eddie Phillips, Betty Francisco, James Mason, Irene Hunt and Frank Foster Davis.

The scene of this exciting photodrama is laid in the U. S. Forest Preserve of the giant redwood trees in redwood trees in the Mariposa valley in California.

One of the high lights of the picture is a sensational forest fire in which "Thunder" rescues several people from the flames.

Interested in the mystic rites of East Indian Yoga, a certain sect that performs on the thoroughfares of certain Indian cities. Taking up the study of mental science Marajah soon became an adept.

As the manager of one of the theatres in the Fischers chain, expressed his wonderment, patrons walked in to Marajah to ask questions regarding lost articles, or personal matters, and his first greeting was to call by their first names the hundreds of people who thronged to see him, all of whom were of course strangers to him.

"THE TEMPTRESS"
A desperate battle with bull whips, in which two men, stripped to the waist, slashed at each other with their rawhide weapons, is one of the sensational spectacles, perhaps the first time ever shown on the screen, in the vivid Cosmopolitan filmization of Ibanes' "The Temptress," at the Elite Theatre Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

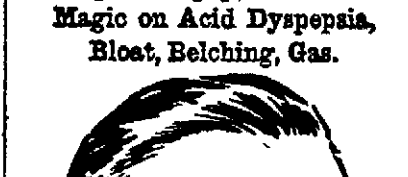

Cattlemen in the South American plains battle with bull whips to settle their differences, and it is one of these odd battles that is reproduced by Antonio Moreno and Roy D'Arcy in the new production. The men, with their long whips, stand in a circle of spectators and slash at each other until one drops. Both suffer fearful punishment.

This is one of a number of thrills in the exotic romance of South America, in which Greta Garbo, the famous Swedish screen beauty, and Antonio Moreno play leading roles. It was directed by Fred Niblo, at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. A notable cast was assembled for the spectacle, including Lionel Barrymore, Marc McDermott, Virginia Brown Faire, Roy D'Arcy, Armand Kalik, Alys Murrell, Hector V. Sarno, Roy Coulson, Inez Godwin and others of note.

"Your interest," he told the grocers, "should be in securing enforcement of the pure food laws, for in that way you will secure the confidence of the public in the business of handling and dealing in foods."

His address was a feature of the first annual meeting of the Wisconsin and Upper Michigan Wholesale Grocers association. Tracing the history of adulterated food and the attempts to drive it from the market by legislation, Mr. Klueber declared the "dairy, food and drug laws of your state are to your business what the banking laws are to the financial institutions of Wisconsin."

"Your interest," he told the grocers, "should be in securing enforcement of the pure food laws, for in that way you will secure the confidence of the public in the business of handling and dealing in foods."

SAINT AND SINNER

By Anne Austin

Without giving Faith a chance to utter the shocked protests that were trembling on her lips, Cherry skipped into the dining room, snatched her impudent little hat from her head, and flung it expertly so that it became a saucy headgear for the green glass bowl of artificial fruit on the sideboard.

"Hello, Daddy!" In her musical voice there was no hint of anger or resentment for the whipping he had given her the night before. She flung herself like a child against the breast of the stooped, haggard-faced man coming on slow, tired feet into the dining room, his spectacles pushed high on his forehead. "Let's kiss and make up, Daddy," she said, laying her cheek against the grayish leather of his face, and smiling like a repentant child.

"All right, Let's eat supper," her father said gruffly, his arm stiff about her slim shoulders, but there were tears in his kind brown eyes. "But no more shenanigans from you, young lady!" he cautioned her with a feeble attempt to impress his authority upon her.

"Gee, you sure know how to use the soft soap, Cherry!" Joy, coming in to supper in a soiled and torn play frock, giggled at the unusual tableau of Cherry kissing her father.

"You shut up!" Cherry whirled upon her, her repentant mood shattered. "You needn't think just because Mugsy's sick—for heaven's sake, Mugsy's sick!—that you can get away with that dress! And your hair! And face! You look as if you were wallowing in mud!"

"I ain't done it! Joy shrieked, wiping her hands on the front of her dress. "Me and Grace been makin' mud pies under the house—that's all. Faith give us some dried up old coconut to make coconut laver cakes with. We got a whole bakery, with leeny biscuits, 'n' choc'ut cakes 'n' cherry pies."

"For goodness sake, go and wash!" Cherry screamed. "Faith, does this child have to go around looking like this? Honestly, I'll die if anybody should happen to drop in and find her looking like that!"

"Today was the first day of school," Faith said. "She wore her new tan linen dress, and of course she had to take it off to keep it nice and clean. And then half a dozen kids came over to do their figure with her, and they went under foot so that I sent them out to play. I didn't care whether they made mud pies or what they did, so long as I could do my work in peace. Slip on that faded pink chambray dress, Joy, honey, and be sure to wash your knees."

"Where's Junior?" Mr. Lane was lading generous helpings of Irish stew from the big bowl into the thick dinner plates.

"Here I am, Dad! I stepped on the gas when I smelled the Irish stew! Don't give me too many carrots, but lot of onions and potatoes."

"This isn't a short order lunch wagon, son," Mr. Lane said mildly, but Faith smiled with amusement as she noted that he gave his son exactly what he had requested. "How's business today, Jimmy?"

"Middlin', Long!" Lane grinned, as he shoveled enthusiastically into his heaping plate of stew. "Cleared about nine dollars, I'd say. Gee, Pop, when I get the old bus paid for, and can go into business for myself dealin' direct with the jobbers, I'll be 'Get Rich Quick' Wallingford, Junior!"—and then I won't give a doggone if you do call me Junior."

He raised his head from his almost prayerful attention to stew, to grin amiably at the members of his family. But when his good-humored, boastful glance rested on Cherry, faintly raising a forkful of meat to her mouth, his jaw dropped, and his eyes bulged ludicrously. "For cryin' out loud!" he ejaculated at last. "Where'd you get the headlight? Anybody but an expert like me'd say it was real. Funny—I didn't think Bob Hathaway's give you a phony sparkler."

"It's not phony," Cherry smiled at him with maddening coyness, as she rested her chin on her hand, so that the big, square-cut, three-carat diamond showed to the best advantage. "And Bob Hathaway didn't give it to me. Didn't you hear me give him the air?"

"Cherry!" Her father's knuckly hand shot out and seized her tiny, rose-tipped hand almost roughly. "That damned scoundrel, Ettleson, give you that ring?"

"Ettleson?" Color flooded Cherry's cheeks, and her voice choked with anger. "He doesn't know there's money enough in the world to buy this diamond! He's a cheap skate, trying to take advantage of a girl because she borrowed two hundred dollars from him!"

"Then where did you get it?" Jim Lane thundered, striking the table a sharp blow with his knife.

"From my fiancé," Cherry retorted. "I'm engaged to be married to Mr. Cluny."

"The old monkey gland you're workin' for?" "Long" good Lord, he's old enough to be your granddaddy."

"But not too old to be a 'sweet daddy,'" Cherry shot back at him impudently. "He's not so old—only sixty-eight."

"I'll put a stop to this fool nonsense, right now!" Her father tried to tear the ring from the finger of the hand he still held in a vice-like grip.

Cherry tore her hand from his grasp and rubbed her reddened fingers tenderly. "I'm eighteen! You're rather overacting the stern parent role lately. But Mr. Cluny'll like you. He's old-fashioned too. He insists on coming to ask you and Mugsy for my hand! And you've almost broken it!"

"When is he coming, Cherry?" Faith rose from the table, as if the sight of food nauseated her.

"Oh, I've persuaded him to hold off till Mugsy's better," Cherry told her airily. "Gee, I feel like a mid-Victorian damsel! Asking for my hand!"

"Faith, be an angel and sew some new shoulder straps on these teddies for me, won't you?" Cherry, rummaging in a cluttered dresser drawer, looked up with her most widdling smile as Faith appeared at the door.

"Here's some orchid ribbon. Make those cunning little flat tailored bows to finish them off, darling. And a little bow in front. Thanks for tugging

"And Chris Wiley?" Cherry flung the words at her sister defiantly. "As for Bob Hathaway, I'm not marrying a man that doesn't really want me. But I swear I'll elope with Chris Wiley, if you and Dad don't let up on me about Faith Cluny. Right now it's one or the other—Chris Wiley or Ralph Cluny. Chris Wiley makes me forget everything else in the world when I'm with him—drives me nuts, I tell you. It would kill Mugsy, and just about kill Dad, too, if I married Chris Wiley. That's the reason I snatched up old Cluny when he was half-way through proposing. I'm just trying to save myself from Chris Wiley! Feelings? You don't know the half of it, Dearie!" she concluded on a bitter note of sarcasm. "There's Bill's car now. Believe me, I'm going to step high, wide and handsome for the short time that's left to me."

"Faith," said Mr. Lane, appearing on noiseless, stockinged feet at the doorway of his wife's room, where Faith was trying to make the invalid comfortable for the night. "George Pruitt and his sister are on the front porch. They want to see you."

"My land! Can't you ask 'em in?" Mrs. Lane's fretful, feeble voice demanded from the depths of her pillows. "And you lookin' a sight! I've told you a thousand times not to set around in your stockin' feet. Does seem to me like you could manage to look like somebody! What's she stuck up little priss, I'll be bound."

"Seems like a right nice girl," Mr. Lane answered mildly. "Not what you'd call pretty exactly, but stylish and lively. Would you like 'em to step in and see you, Martha? They'd be right glad to, I know. Nothin' stuck up about them young people."

"Give me my hood-war cap, Faith—that crocheted one of yellow and pink. And my yellow silk dressin' sack. And my carnation talcum. It's in the top right-hand bureau drawer."

"Do you really want to see them, Mother?" Faith hesitated uneasily. She had met Selma Pruitt, had admired the lively girl's wit, her ability to mimic those whom her capricious sense of humor chose as fair prey, but had hoped her talent would never be turned upon herself or her family.

"Reckon you're ashamed of your mother," Mrs. Lane accused her. "Four fine friends are too good to be brought into your own home."

Without another word, Faith found and brought to her mother the articles she had demanded, helped her adjust, over her straggling, thin gray hair, the absurd crocheted "boudoir cap," and fastened the lace-trimmed yellow silk "dressing sack" over the vast bosom.

"Hello, Faith, you splendid young goddess!" Selma Pruitt's laughing, lyricsoprano voice called out. "You always make me feel like an underdone half portion of squab. I've brought your Romeo with me—simply pining away he was, poor darling. What in the world have you done to our George?"

"Awfully glad to see you, Selma," Faith offered her hand with shy dignity. "How are you, George? You aren't looking emaciated. I'm sorry Cherry isn't here. She went to a dance at the Warrens' house."

"At the Warrens?" Selma demanded, with staccato surprise. "That's odd. Frances Warren and Joe Stevens came by our house ten minutes ago to ask us to go to the movies with them."

"Then—" Faith drew a sharp breath, but smiled quickly. "I must have been mistaken as to where the dance was to be. Bill Warren called for her."

"But Bill—" Selma began, look-

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

MAYOR URGED TO NAME GREAT LAKES DELEGATES

Mayor Albert C. Rule, in a letter received Monday from the Great Lakes Harbors association through its president, William George Bruce of Milwaukee, is urged to appoint at least five delegates to attend a meeting of the association Nov. 16 and 17 at Buffalo, N. Y. The sessions will be held at the Statler hotel.

This is the most critical period in the navigation integrity of Great Lakes history, and problems of vital concern will be brought up at the gathering, it is pointed out in the letter. Reference also is made to some of the important navigation legislation now pending before congress, matters in which the association has utmost concern.

Mayor Rule has not decided whether his breath, "You haven't changed your mind, have you, dear? I—I'm pretty miserable, Faith."

Faith backed against the wall, weakly, for temptation had swooped down upon her overwhelmingly. If she were engaged to George, Bob Hathaway's undeclared, scarcely realized love for her would die stillborn. And if she told him frankly that Cherry was flinging herself into an old man's arms, because he, Bob, did not care for her, would not his infatuation flame into life again?

Wasn't it the only way to save Cherry? And maybe—maybe—she could learn to love George. He was such a dear, would be so good to her. "Don't ask me now," she whispered, giving him both her hands in an unmistakable gesture of promise. (TO BE CONTINUED)

The OPEN SALOON

— you don't want it back! Read the Beer Referendum:

"Shall the Congress of the United States amend the 'Volstead Act' so as to authorize the manufacture and sale of beer, for beverage purposes, of an alcoholic percentage of 2.75% by weight, under government supervision but with the provision that no beverage so purchased shall be drunk on the premises where obtained."

Over three times as much ice cream was made and consumed in America in 1925 as in any pre-prohibition year. What will you vote for—the milk bottle or the beer bottle, the creamery or the saloon?

This Will Happen: If the Referendum should carry, and if Congress obeys the Referendum, then you see clearly, the open saloon would return. To be sure, you could not drink on premises where obtained, but it will be easy to drink in wide-open saloons "next door".

Therefore! Vote "NO" on the Beer Referendum

LITTLE RELIEF FOR FARMER IN FEDERAL LOAN, NORDMAN SAYS

Need Opportunity to Market Produce at Reasonable Prices, Market Head States

Madison—(AP)—New federal loans to farmers as contemplated by the government would give "but small relief," Edward Nordman state commissioner of markets said in a statement issued here Wednesday.

"It is obvious," he said, "that if such growers had adequate security they would have no trouble now obtaining all the money they need from private sources. If the money loaning institutions already functioning find it unsafe to loan money to the cotton growers, the government is not warranted in running new risks, for in case of insolvency the loss will fall on the taxpayer."

"So far as credit is concerned the farmers of this country have adequate facilities at the present time to obtain loans on the security of their products, stored in warehouses, through the federal and the various state warehouse acts. On the basis of security provided by these acts millions of dollars have been loaned to the farmers of Wisconsin and other states by the Intermediate Credit association as well as by private banks. Such credits are fundamentally different from the proposed government loans to cotton growers, for these are after all mere palliatives and are no solution for the farmer's troubles."

NEED MARKETING OPPORTUNITY

"What the farmers of this country need is an opportunity to market their products at profitable prices. The difficulty facing the cotton growers is that he has produced more cotton than the market can absorb. It is not a case of 'is having produced more than the market will take in the near future, but the case of his having produced more than the market is likely to take at all and pay a fair price for it. A government loan will not help this situation but will make it worse, for it is likely to instill in the cotton grower a sense of false security and cause him to still further increase the surplus which is the source of most of his troubles."

"It is time," concluded Mr. Nordman, "that the responsible leaders begin to give heed to the fact that what the farmers need is not a chance to borrow more money, but an opportunity for lower overhead expenses and a wider market so that he can pay up rather than do more borrowing."

When Her Majesty Meets A Sovereign American!

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

Washington—If Queen Marie of Rumania comes to your town, or her son, Prince Nicholas, or Princess Ileana, or all three, or any combination of them, and you see them, don't forget the rules laid down by Assistant Secretary of State J. Butler Wright for your behavior in the presence of royalty.

Wright is the government's super-authority on all such problems, its social court of last resort, its final arbiter on questions of etiquette, national and international.

Pay heed to his dictum unless you want to be regarded as a hoodlum by one of the few post-war queens, one of the few post-war princesses and one of the few post-war princesses left on the job in Europe—this is to say, in Europe except when they are visiting on this side of the water.

You won't be slammed in jail if you make any bad breaks, short of bomb throwing, as you might be in Europe, but you don't want to be considered a roughneck, do you?

While royalty's in sight nobody should turn his or her back on it.

Keep your face always turned toward royalty. After royalty has turned the corner or faded over the horizon or made its exit otherwise, then you can go about your business head-first, as usual.

Royalty can leave you as royalty pleases, but when you leave royalty, you must do it backward, bowing or edgewise, with your head turned over your shoulder, facing royalty— or somehow so that you don't turn your back on it and walk off, as if royalty were of no consequence.

As for raiment, wear the fullest kind of full dress, depending on the hour.

In the daytime—for a man—so-called morning clothes—cutaway, gray striped pants, spats, patent leathers, high silk hat, gloves and a walking stick, preferably.

For a woman, afternoon dress—whatever that is for a woman.

For a man, take your hat off, of course, even if you're bald and a cold wind's blowing. For a woman, keep your hat on, though it's indoors and you'd like to get rid of it.

In the evening—for a man—wear a spike tail. A dinner jacket doesn't do in royalty's presence after 6 p. m., no matter how informal the occasion.

For a woman—swellest evening outfit she can muster.

Say "Your Majesty" to the queen when you're introduced.

Similarly, say "Your Royal Highness" to the prince and princess, upon introduction.

After that drop the "Majesty" and "Highness" business.

Say "Madame" to the queen at frequent intervals, "Sir" to the prince and "Mademoiselle" to the princess.

This shouldn't be overlooked. Too much "Majesty-ing" and "Highness-ing" are vulgar. At the start they're essential—subsequently, too sweet to be wholesome.

Otherwise, don't chew tobacco in the royal presence—for tobacco isn't chewed in Rumania, or eat with your knife at official banquets, and you'll hold your own with royalty as well as the next one.

Assistant Secretary of State Wright didn't specifically ban tobacco chewing and sword swallowing at the table, but they're taboo in Rumanian high society, according to dispatches from Bucharest.

'ALDEHOL' IS JOKE OF DRY OFFICERS FOR BOOTLEGGERS

"Formula No. 5 Modified" Will Add to Difficulties of Booze Sellers

Washington—Drink Formula No. 5 Modified?

Heaven forbid!

Formula No. 5 Modified is the concoction the prohibition unit is going to use, after Jan. 1, to denature commercial alcohol.

Having heard about it, I dropped in at the unit and solicited a smell. It was vouchsafed.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found how to save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for results. It gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any drugist, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaia-col, known the world over for its healing effect on membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your drugist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

PINEX for Coughs

said the agent who gave me the sniff, lending a kindly hand to keep me from falling flat down.

"IT TASTES WORSE" continued the agent. "Will you try just a drop? Don't take much. It's 4 per cent wood alcohol."

"Mignosh! no," I cried.

"Well, perhaps you're right," observed the agent, rather regretfully, however, for he obviously was proud of his brew. "I'd make you sicker'n a pup, but it wouldn't kill you stone dead. Not unless you drank a lot."

"What's in this stuff?" I asked, holding my nose.

"It's mostly aldehyde," the agent explained. "It's a trade name. When they 'crack' gasoline, aldehyde's a by-product. Then there's the wood alcohol, and a few other things the chemists stir in. It's a secret process, to make the bootleggers guess all the harder. If they don't know just what it is, they don't know how to get it out."

That's been the prohibition unit's problem all along—to find a denaturant for alcohol that bootleggers can't distill out, leaving the pure alcohol, to be converted into rye and Scotch and Bacardi and Gordon gin.

With Formula No. 5 Modified they think they've turned the trick but they're not quite sure.

It's a mighty difficult thing, they admit at the unit, to mix chemicals together so thoroughly that a laboratory expert can't sort them out. By persistent experimenting bootleggers' chemists generally manage to hit on the right process.

That's what happened to alcoholol denaturants prior to Formula No. 5 Modified. Thus denaturant after denaturant went into the discard until the unit ran across Formula No. 5 Modified.

It came from Pittsburgh, where a big paint concern and using it as a varnish ingredient. Dr. Doran, the unit's chief chemist, was attracted by its awful smell. He took a taste. It was at least equal to the smell.

LAUGH AT BOOTLEGGERS

"This," said the doctor, "will make a good denaturant if it blends well with alcohol."

He poured in some other things, to get a still fiercer effect, shook the compound up with alcohol, and as yet hadn't succeeded in redistributing the combination into its individual components.

But some other chemist may. Dr.

he proposes to keep pretty quiet about his formula and bother the bootleggers all he can. At any rate he'll have the laugh on them for a while.

Sport skirts in Paris are being made to hang from the hips instead of the waist.

A Simple Application That Dissolves Blackheads

No more squeezing and pinching to get rid of those ugly blackheads. Get a little Calomite powder from any drug store, sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth, rub over the blackheads, and in two minutes every blackhead will be dissolved away entirely.

PLAN MEETING OF TRAFFIC OFFICERS

Will Hold Meeting of State Organization in Fond du Lac in November

An executive meeting of the Wisconsin State Highway Traffic Officers' association was held recently at Fond du Lac at the home of Deputy Sheriff Elmer Becker, president of the association, to arrange final details for the last meeting of the law enforcement group for this year.

It is expected that the meeting will be held in Fond du Lac during the first half of November.

According to Capt. Charles Glawe, secretary, Green Bay, ten applications for membership already are on file and numerous inquiries indicate that perhaps as many as 25 members will be taken in at the gathering.

Traffic officers from all sections of the state are expected to attend. Sheriff Charles Reichenbach, Milwaukee, has informed Captain Glawe that he will be present.

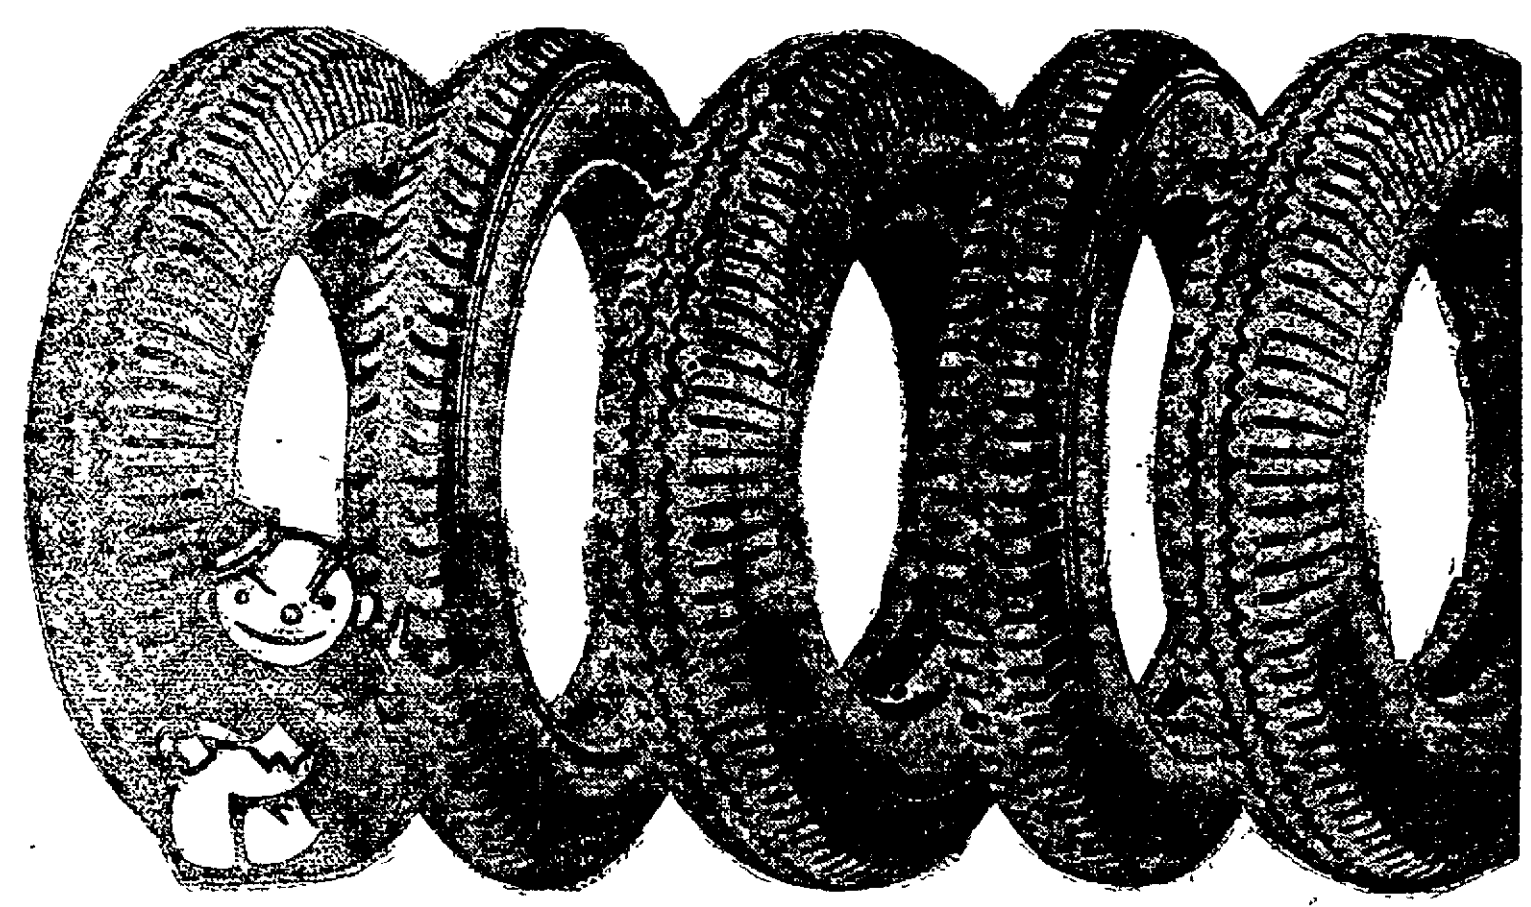

Police chiefs, district attorneys, sheriffs and other law enforcement officers, are eligible for honorary membership in the organization whose object is to work for more uniform enforcement of traffic laws and the passage of a state code to be applied literally in every county of the state.

ULSTERS, Ulsterettes, Great Coats, Guard models, Tube Coats, etc.—here they are—in the season's smartest styles—durable, likeable fabrics—hand tailoring—featured in three big groups.

BLIVEN DECLARES PRESS VULGARIZES NEWS FOR READERS

Distorts Value of Stories to Gain Circulation for Advertiser, Writer Says

Chicago —(P)—Publishers are vulgarizing their newspapers to sell more copies, because advertisers have come to prefer size to quality in circulation, Bruce Bliven of The New Republic, charges in an article published Wednesday in The Christian Advocate, organ of the Methodist Episcopal church.

The modern newspaper, declares Bliven in an article on "The Morals of the Newspaper," features crime, news, photographs of scantily clad young ladies and prize contests in order to sell itself to persons uninformed by education to find interest in intelligent and well-balanced presentation of public affairs.

CIRCULATION RACE

"Good newspapers," says Bliven, are growing better and bad ones are growing worse. But in the race for circulation the good papers are being beaten."

The danger is, he believes, that the good newspapers will "moderate and concede and conform, always in the direction of sensationalism, superstition and jazz."

"There are enough good people in the United States," Bliven says, "to mark the important in this situation in a month, if they cared to,"
"by the simple process of refusing to read bad papers."

DOUBTS CHANGE

"But if you ask me whether any such thing is likely, I can only answer candidly, I doubt it very much."

Calling the newspaper the most important instrument in the shaping of public opinion, Bliven concedes that the average newspaper reader probably does not comprehend the ins and outs of a coal strike or of international problems.

"The big business government is to endure," he argues, "it can be only by means of an intelligent and alert public opinion, one which, while it may not grasp the intricate economic problems behind such a sick industry as coal, knows whether it wants government in behalf of the rich man or the poor, government which favors industry or agriculture or both, and will express these preferences at the ballot box."

"I am not one who would suppress crime news, sex stories, photographs of scantily clad young ladies, or prize contests. I believe the newspaper should present a complete and accurate picture of the world in which we live. But I believe these things should be given only the importance which they have in the life of the average man."

"The big business press gives them an enormously exaggerated importance.
Moreover by doing so it belittles when it does not omit entirely the really important news—news of international developments, of domestic, political and economic happenings, the very news which the citizen most needs if he is to exercise his franchise intelligently."

"The editor of such a paper will tell you his readers don't want anything else than what they get. But to never tries to find out. Instead of giving his readers as much 'good stuff' as they will stand, he gives them as much bad stuff as he can discover or invent, and is satisfied when he sees, as he does, that they eat it up."

BLAINE LAUDS DAIRY INDUSTRY OF STATE

Largely Responsible for Low Percentage of Bank Failures, Governor Says

Marshfield —(P)—Dairying has been largely responsible for Wisconsin's industrial prosperity and low percentage of bank failures, Governor John J.
Blaine told cheesemakers of the central part of the state here Thursday.

The governor was the principal speaker at the Central Wisconsin Cheesemakers' Association meeting.
He went into the history of dairying in the state and told of how the farmers in the southern part of the state turned to dairying after the chinch bug made wheat growing unprofitable.

"Wisconsin's position of leadership in dairying is undisputed," he said.
"It has the most cows, produces the most milk and gets the largest return therefrom. It also has the most silos and the largest number of cow-testing associations, and leads every other state by a wide margin in the number of cattle tested and found free of bovine tuberculosis. Dairying is the backbone of Wisconsin's agriculture and the foundation of the state's prosperity."

"It has unquestionably built up our farms and is mainly responsible for the fact that the yield per acre of all crops of which this state is an important producer is always higher than that of the country as a whole and in many years leads every other state. To dairying also should go much of the credit for the industrial prosperity of the state."

URGES FARMERS TO CUT BRUSH FROM ROADSIDES

Farmers on the rural routes of the Appleton postoffice are warned by Postmaster William H. Zuehlke to cut away the brush along the roads.

A trip through the country by the postmaster last week revealed that the brush is unusually high this year.
In some places it is from three to four feet high he said. Unless the brush is cut down before the first snow arrives it causes huge drifts to form in the roads and seriously interferes with the delivery of the mail.

POOR COST APPLETON $667 IN SEPTEMBER

Expenditures of the department of poor for September totaled $667.23, according to the monthly report of E.

Of this amount, $200 went toward wages of the commissioner of home

Texas Creates Another Parking Place At Cost Of $5,000,000 For Maritime Commerce Of Whole World

Corpus Christi, Tex.—Texas has created one more parking place for the maritime commerce of the world.
With the recent opening of the new $5,000,000 harbor here, another seaport was made ready for the vast Gulf coast country, and the name of Corpus Christi was added to the list of southern centers of shipping.

Years ago when Corpus Christi was the center of a vast section of virgin prairie principally devoted to the culture of the long-horned cow and the short-tailed rattlesnake, several of its progressive residents realized the value of a deep water port and for 40 years these sturdy pioneers have been working to accomplish their plans.

GIVES FEDERAL HELP

Some four years ago the prospective port of Corpus Christi received federal designation, but it was some time before actual work

Principal units in this program of construction were a 21-mile channel stretching across the Bay of Corpus Christi and extending to the Gulf of Mexico, a modern bascule bridge spanning this channel, an adequate turning basin, docks, warehouses and a great breakwater.

Immediately following the appropriation of the necessary funds by the federal government, the work went forward with unusual rapidity.
Under the supervision of competent engineers three large dredges were secured.

The bascule bridge, with a 90-foot clearance and a 110-foot span, is especially designed to accommodate the tracks of the Southern Pacific railroad. And all traffic on the highway is carried overhead.

The large turning basin, which is now receiving ships from the far ports of the world, is a triumph of modern engineering. It is 2700 feet in length and 1000 feet wide. The entire turning basin, as well as the downtown section of the city of Cor-
water 16 feet wide at the bottom and 26 feet wide at the top. It is constructed of immense limestone rocks, weighing from seven to ten tons.

GREAT BASIN

Of the $5,000,000 cost, $1,320,000 was received from the federal government. The remainder was secured by the remission of ad valorem taxes from the seven surrounding counties and by local taxation.

With the opening of the port of Corpus Christi a great stream of exports are coming from that immense western and central section of Texas and it is probable that the major portion of ore and other products from northern Mexico will find an outlet through this new harbor.

Imports from the Atlantic seaboard already have started coming in very rapidly.

Immediately surrounding Corpus Christi are approximately 2,000,000 acres of fertile land that is fast becoming known as an agricultural empire. Nearly one-quarter of a million bales of cotton were produced in the four counties surrounding Corpus Christi this year, and it practically all will be shipped out through this new port, effecting a great saving.

COUNTY JUDGE HEARS SIX PROBATE CASES

Three hearings on final accounts, one petition for appointment of a guardian, a hearing on preferred claims and a hearing on proof of will, were disposed of by County Judge Fred V. Heilmann at a special term of county court on Tuesday. Final accounts were entered in the estates of Mary Ahrens, Max Tremel and Peter Spierings; guardian was sought for Mrs. Peter Spierings; preferred claims entered against the estate of Martin Steffen and the will entered for probate in the estate of John Mueller.

and city home keeper, and $250.64 for families in the city to which aid was extended last month. Mr. Schueller's report indicates. Inmates in the city home last month numbered 19.

HELP KIDNEYS BY DRINKING MORE WATER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Help Neutralize Irritating Acids

Kidney and bladder irritations often result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder; where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking lots of soft water, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acids of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by the thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by acid irritation. Jad Salts causes no bad effects whatever.

If you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which may quickly relieve your bladder irritation, adv.

ZIMMERMAN WILL SPEAK IN APPLETON

Progressive Republican Candidate Will Start Booster Campaign Saturday

Fred R. Zimmerman, Progressive Republican nominee for governor, will speak in Appleton at 4:30 Saturday afternoon on the parking grounds opposite the Conway hotel. Mr. Zimmerman is to start a booster trip from Milwaukee Saturday morning with thirty or more automobiles and about 150 boosters. They will tour through the northeastern part of the state with Green Bay as their destination.

Charles Nelson is in charge of local arrangements. It is expected that several cars with a group of Appleton boosters will join the parade when it leaves Appleton and will continue to Green Bay where a banquet will be served in the evening. Mr. Zimmerman is to speak at the following cities along the route: Milwaukee, Cedarburg, Port Washington, Sheboygan, Manitowoc, Neenah, Appleton, De-Pere and Green Bay. The parade will cover approximately 352 miles. The caravan will start from Milwaukee at 8:30 Saturday morning and will arrive in Green Bay at 6:30 in the afternoon. It is scheduled to arrive in Appleton at 4:30 and to leave at 5 o'clock. This is the final booster trip of the campaign.

WISCONSIN DROPS BEHIND NEIGHBORS IN ROAD BUILDING

Total of $7,784,566 Spent by State in 1925, Federal Figures Show

By BASCOM N. TIMMONS
Washington, D. C.—As compared with other states, Wisconsin lagged in the amount spent by its state highway department in road building in 1925, figures given out by the Department of Agriculture Thursday showed. The Wisconsin State Highway department spent only $7,784,566. Pennsylvania spent $62,294,366; New York $49,368,770; Illinois, $36,875,963; Michigan, $36,138,549; North Carolina, $32,558,514; Missouri, $31,593,837; Ohio, $24,086,259; New Jersey, $23,939,454. However, the exact amount of road building in each state is not shown in these figures as they do not include expenditures by county and local authorities for local roads.

HUGE TOTAL SPENT
The total expenditures by the state highway departments in 1925 for road and bridge construction on the several state highway systems amounted to $149,151,041, according to reports from the highway departments just compiled by the Bureau of Public Roads. Of the total expenditure 58.6 per cent was spent for road and bridge construction, 18.4 per cent for maintenance, and 2.3 per cent for materials and equipment. Administrative and engineering costs accounted for 4.7 per cent of the total. Interest and principal payments on bonds 7.5 per cent, and miscellaneous expenditures amounted to 6.0 per cent of the total.

To meet these expenses the highway departments received from various sources during the year a total income of $750,081,292 of which $115,566,721 was available as a balance from the previous year's operations, so that the amount of money raised during the year was only $634,514,571. Of the latter amount 43.5 per cent was raised by means of motor vehicle license fees and gasoline taxes, 30 per cent from the former and the balance from the latter. The sale bonds realized 21.3 per cent of the total for the year, and federal aid received from the national government amounted to 13.9 per cent. Funds transferred to the state by the counties and other local governments amounted to 10.6 per cent, and the balance was made up of funds derived from special highway taxes and appropriations and from miscellaneous sources as follows: Taxes, 2.3 per cent; appropriations, 5.0 per cent; and miscellaneous 2.3 per cent.

RATE IS ABOUT SAME
Although the year's expenditures were slightly greater than the previous year's total of $695,665,297, the balance of $180,956,191 carried over into the current year was even greater than the amount of unexpended funds carried over from 1924. The rate of construction remained about the same as in previous years.

One of the most significant facts brought out by the report is the remarkable increase in the percentage of the total highway income derived from motor vehicle and gasoline taxes, and falling off in the percentage representing real and personal property taxation. There has been a steady tendency in this direction since 1921. In that year the combined income from motor vehicle license and gasoline taxes amounted to 25.5 per cent, the gas tax revenue amounting to less than one per cent. In 1925 the income produced from these sources was 43.5 per cent of the year's total and the gas taxes alone 13.5 per cent.

In the same period taxes on property specifically for road purposes have dropped from 11.2 per cent to 2.3 per cent of the year's total income. Including the income from appropriations and miscellaneous sources, most of which is raised indirectly by property taxation, the 1921 percentage was 29.7 and the 1925 percentage was 10.5.

Woman Loves Housework, Has Good Time

"I had stomach gas so bad that work was a burden and I was always drowsy. Adlerika is the best medicine I ever took. Since taking it, I feel like doing my house work and enjoy life again."—Mrs. W. H. Cinsman.
Adlerika gives the system a REAL cleansing and brings out old poisons which may have caused trouble for a long time. Unlike most medicines, it acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowels. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and takes away that full, bloated feeling that you can eat neither food nor sleep better. Even if you move daily, Adlerika brings out much additional poison which you never thought was in your system and which caused sour, gassy stomach, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache. No matter what you have tried for your stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. At druggists. In Appleton at Veigt's Drug Store and other Druggists.

DEBATE COACHES WILL PLAN SCHEDULE OF YEAR

College debate coaches of the state will meet in Milwaukee during the time of the Wisconsin Teachers association convention, Nov. 4 and 5, to decide the schedule for the intercollegiate debates of the 1926-1927 season. A. L. Franke, debate coach at Lawrence college, will attend the meeting. Invitations have been received by the colleges in the Wisconsin district of the Midwest Debate conference from cities throughout the state, and the dates and schools will be selected at the meeting in Milwaukee. The practice of holding non-decision debates will be continued as it has been in the past among the Wisconsin colleges and appearances will be made before high school and other audiences.

EXPRESS COMPANY RECORDS POINT TO LARGER BUSINESS

Shipments in September Exceed Those of Same Month
Last Year

Express shipments, one of the principal indicators of business conditions in Appleton during September show a considerable increase over the same month in 1925, according to W. N. Kimball, general agent of the local branch of the American Railway Express Co. Shipments for the month totaled 9,793 while in September, 1925, there were only 8,416 shipments. The shipments also have been larger. Most of them were of more than one package and one recent shipment consisted of 57 pieces.

There also was a large increase noticed over the August shipments, according to Mr. Kimball. This is a natural increase, however, because the last four months of every year are always the largest because of holiday shipments.

A marked increase in the number of express shipments is an excellent indication of industrial and commercial advances, says Mr. Kimball, who has been in the Appleton office of the express company for 20 years. When there is considerable selling and goods move fast, merchants receive

The New York Way of Making Iced Tea

MRS. IDA BAILEY ALLEN'S recipe for making Iced Tea, taken from her new cook book, (see coupon below), is the newest idea for iced tea making in that it suggests Karo (Red Label) instead of sugar because the Karo is not only nutritious but dissolves so much more easily than granulated sugar.

2 quarts tea, moderately strong and freshly made 3/4 cup Karo, Red Label
1 sliced lemon Juice of one lemon

Chill, add Karo and lemon juice; serve with crushed ice and lemon.

Give your children plenty of rich, nourishing Karo on sliced bread, pancakes, biscuits or waffles because it not only supplies the demand for a "sweet" but is a real energy food.

Notice of General Election November 2, 1926

STATE OF WISCONSIN
County of Outagamie—ss.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that an election to be held in the several towns, wards, villages and election districts of the state of Wisconsin on the first Tuesday of November, A. D. 1926, being the second day of said month, the following officers are to be elected:

A GOVERNOR, in place of John J. Blaine, whose term of office will expire on the first Monday of January, A. D. 1927.

A LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, in place of Henry A. Huber, whose term of office will expire on the first Monday of January, 1927.

A SECRETARY OF STATE, in place of Fred R. Zimmerman, whose term of office will expire on the first Monday of January, 1927.

A STATE TREASURER, in place of Solomon Levitan, whose term of office will expire on the first Monday of January, 1927.

AN ATTORNEY GENERAL, in place of Herman L. Ekern, whose term of office will expire on the first Monday of January, 1927.

A UNITED STATES SENATOR, in place of Irvine L. Lenroot, whose term of office will expire on the fourth day of March, 1927.

A REPRESENTATIVE IN CONGRESS for the Ninth Congressional District, comprised of the counties of Langlade, Forest, Florence, Marinette, Oconto, Outagamie, Brown, Kewaunee, and Door.

A MEMBER OF ASSEMBLY for the First Assembly District of Outagamie County, comprised of the towns of Bovina, Center, Dale, Ellington, Grand Chute and Greenville, the village of Shiocton and the city of Appleton.

A MEMBER OF ASSEMBLY for the Second Assembly District of Outagamie County, comprised of the towns of Black Creek, Buchanan, Cicero, Deer Creek, Freedom, Horton, Kaukauna, Liberty, Maple Creek, Maine, Oneida, Osborn, Seymour and Vandenberg; the villages of Black Creek, Bear Creek, Combined Locks, Kimberly, Little Chute and Hortonville; and the cities of Kaukauna, Seymour and the third ward of New London.

COUNTY OFFICERS. There are also to be elected a county clerk, county treasurer, district attorney, sheriff, register of deeds, clerk of court, surveyor and coroner for each county of the state, and any other county officers required by law to be elected at such election.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

NOTICE IS HEREBY FURTHER GIVEN that at said general election the following proposed amendments to the constitution of the state of Wisconsin, which have been approved by two succeeding legislatures and duly published for three months as required by section I of article XII of said constitution, will be submitted to a vote of the electors in manner provided by law and as directed by chapters 270 and 413 Laws of 1925, to-wit:

(Jt. Res. No. 12, S.)
JOINT RESOLUTION
No. 16, 1925

To create section 12 of article XIII of the constitution, relating to the recall of elective public officers.

WHEREAS, At the biennial session of the legislature for the year 1923, an amendment to the constitution was proposed and agreed to by a majority of the members elected to each of the two houses, which proposed amendment is as follows:

"Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That a new section be added to article XIII of the constitution to read: (Article XIII Sec. 12. The qualified electors of the state or of any county or of any congressional, judicial or legislative district may petition for the recall of any elective officer after the first year of the term for which he was elected, by filing a petition with the officer with whom the petition for nomination to such office in the primary election is filed, demanding the recall of such officer. Such petition shall be signed by electors equal in number to at least twenty-five per cent of the vote cast for the office of governor at the last preceding election, in the state, county or district from which such officer is to be recalled. The officer with whom such petition is filed shall call a special election to be held not less than forty nor more than forty-five days from filing of such petition. The officer against whom such petition has been filed shall continue to perform the duties of his office until the result of such special election shall have been officially declared. Other candidates for such office may be nominated in the manner as is provided by law in primary elections. The candidate who shall receive the highest number of votes shall be deemed elected for the remainder of the term. The name of the candidate against whom the recall petition is filed shall go on the ticket unless he resigns within ten days after the filing of the petition. After one such petition and special election, no further recall petition shall be filed against the same officer during the term for which he was elected. This article shall be self-executing and all of its provisions shall be treated as mandatory. Laws may be enacted to facilitate its operation, but no law shall be enacted to hamper, restrict or impair the right of recall."

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That the foregoing amendment to the constitution of the state of Wisconsin be and the same is hereby agreed to by the legislature.

NOTE—This amendment, if approved, will add to the constitution a self-executing provision for the recall of elective public officers by the direct vote of the people of the state or of any county or of any congressional, judicial or legislative district, under the conditions and in the manner therein set forth. It will apply to officers elected by the people of the following classes only: state officers, county officers, congressional officers, judicial officers, and legislative officers, and will enable the people to recall any officer in the classes named, at any time after he has served one year of the term for which he was elected, and to elect another person in his place for the remainder of such term.

(Jt. Rs. No. 50, A.)
JOINT RESOLUTION
No. 52, 1925

To amend section 5 of article V of the constitution, relating to the compensation of the governor.

WHEREAS, At the biennial session of the legislature for the year 1923, an amendment to the constitution was proposed and agreed to by a majority of the members elected to each of the two houses, which proposed amendment is as follows:

"Resolved by the Assembly, the Senate concurring, That section 5 of article V of the constitution be amended to read: (Article V) Section 5. The governor shall receive, during his continuance in office, an annual compensation of not less than five thousand dollars, to be fixed by law, which shall be in full for all traveling expenses incident to his duties. The compensation prescribed for governor immediately prior to the adoption of this amendment shall continue in force until changed by the legislature in a manner consistent with the other provisions of this constitution."

Resolved by the assembly, the senate concurring. That the foregoing amendment to the constitution of the state of Wisconsin be and the same is hereby agreed to by this legislature.

NOTE—Under this amendment, if approved, instead of the governor's salary being fixed by the constitution, the legislature will have power by law to fix it at not less than five thousand dollars, which shall be in full for all traveling and other expenses incident to his duties.

REFERENDUM

NOTICE IS HEREBY FURTHER GIVEN that at said general election there will be submitted to the voters a question relative to amending the Volstead Act as set forth in the Joint Resolution following:

(Jt. Res. 42, S.)
JOINT RESOLUTION
No. 47, 1925

Providing for referendum relative to memorializing congress to amend the National Prohibition Act.

WHEREAS, The eighteenth amendment to the constitution was ratified by the legislature of the state of Wisconsin without submission to a vote of the people; and

WHEREAS under the "concurrent" clause of said amendment the legislature of the state of Wisconsin provided for the manufacture and sale of non-intoxicating beer by Chapter 556, Laws of 1919; and

WHEREAS subsequent thereto the congress of the United States passed the National Prohibition Act commonly known as the "Volstead Act" limiting the alcoholic percentage of beverages to one-half of one per cent by volume, and

WHEREAS subsequent thereto the supreme court of the United States ruled that the congressional enactment superseded the state enactment, and

WHEREAS a large portion of the citizens of this state are desirous that said National Prohibition Law be amended so as to permit the lawful manufacture and sale within this state of palatable beer of an alcoholic percentage not in conflict with the provisions of the eighteenth amendment; therefore, be it

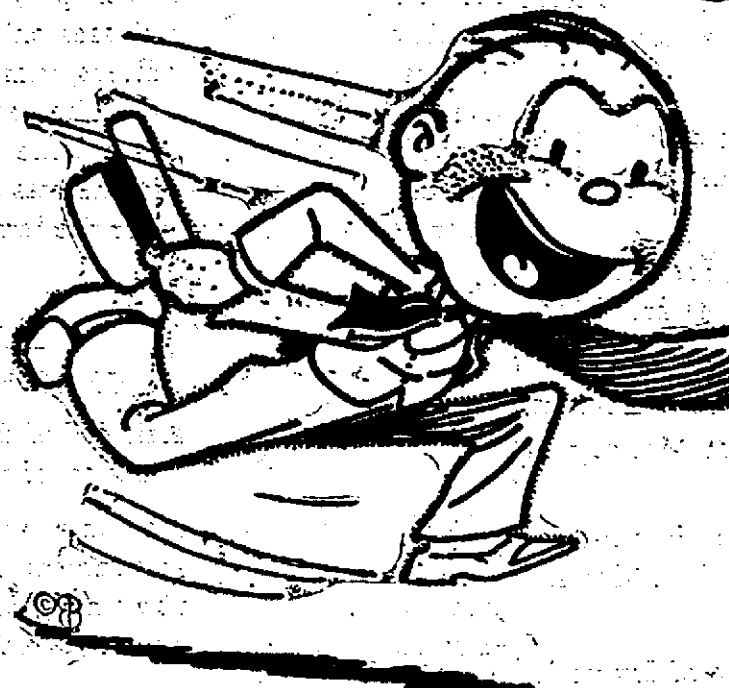

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, that there be submitted to the voters of the state of Wisconsin at the general elections to be held in this state in November, 1926, the following question, so as to determine if a majority of the people of the state of Wisconsin desire the Volstead Act amended:—

Shall the congress of the United States amend the "Volstead Act" so as to authorize the manufacture and sale of beer, for beverage purposes, of an alcoholic percentage of 2.75% by weight, under government supervision but with the provision that no beverage so purchased shall be drunk on the premises where obtained?

NOTE—This resolution simply provides for the submission to the voters at the coming general election of a question framed to ascertain the opinion of the electors of Wisconsin as to whether the Volstead Act should be amended in the particulars stated in the question. No change will be effected in the constitution or the state laws by the vote upon the question submitted.

Given under my hand and official seal at the court house in the city of Appleton this 22nd day of September, A. D. 1926.
JOHN E. HANTSCHER, (Seal) County Clerk.

ZONING ORDINANCE IS PROTECTION TO PROPERTY IN CITY

Appleton Man Tells Advancement Club of City Planning Benefits

Kaukauna—Attorney F. S. Bradford, Appleton, gave an interesting talk on the City Zoning Ordinance at a business meeting of Kaukauna Advancement association in the council chambers of the municipal building Wednesday evening. The talk followed a dinner at 6:30, served by ladies of the Methodist church.

President Ben Frugh introduced Mr. Bradford as the best informed man in Appleton on the subject. Mr. Bradford said Appleton had spent two years on completing its city zoning ordinance. He said the first thing any city contemplating a city zoning ordinance should do is get an expert in city planning. The first record of any zoning ordinance was during the time of old Rome in Italy. The Romans had a system of zoning which was the original source until people actually believe Nero fiddled while Rome was burning, but the truth of the matter is that Rome was burned for a certain purpose. In the Circus Maximus there were so many petty dealers selling their wares that it was hardly possible for one to walk through this part of Rome. The Circus Maximus covered a large portion of the southeast quarter of Rome. The fire was started to clear the city of this nuisance.

"The intention was to burn only the Circus Maximus, but the fire got out of control and a great part of Rome was destroyed. This was the first zoning ordinance that there is any written record of. The fire cleared everything undesirable out and after every great conflagration there is a tendency to rebuild and improve that which was burned. So it was in Rome. Instead of the narrow, crooked alleys, wide spacious and beautiful streets were built. In this day it is not necessary to burn an undesirable section of the city in order to get rid of it. One can proceed in a lawful way.

"Zoning gives everyone the right to enjoy all of their rights. Our ordinance in Appleton has turned out to be highly successful. Every protest against the ordinance is based on some selfish motive. One cannot stress too greatly the need of an expert in zoning a city. Appleton secured Professor Smith of the University of Wisconsin, who is an expert on city planning, and it has been glad of it ever since. The first thing he did was to build up public sentiment and he did this by holding meetings in various parts of the city where he exhibited pictures showing how Appleton looked and also how other cities looked that had a zoning ordinance. The big idea of city zoning is to protect the people and their homes. Contrary to the general opinion 'everything that is already built at the time the zoning ordinance goes into effect stays, but any building which is contrary to the zoning ordinance cannot be enlarged, only the necessary repairs made on it."

"Real estate value is increased twenty-five per cent and it is the opinion of one Appleton banker that it is increased 35 per cent. The city is divided into four districts. They are the residential district, local business district, light manufacturing district and heavy manufacturing district. In a city where there is a zoning ordinance it is necessary for every one who is contemplating building any kind of a building to lay his entire plans before the city engineer who will grant him a permit if they are all right. A board of appeals is provided by the ordinance so that the prospective builder, if he believes the city engineer unjust in his refusal of a permit, may present his plans to this board and it will decide whether the engineer was right. Several times in Appleton the board has reversed the decision given by the engineer. In the residential district nothing can be built which will lower the value of property and homeowners are at all times protected from junk stores, light machine shops and annoyances over which a city has no control if it has no zoning ordinance.

A discussion followed Mr. Bradford's talk. E. W. Fargo spoke on his recent trip to the oil fields of Texas. He told of the present boom in the Panhandle. John Coppes was again named chairman of the Mid-winter fair and he will appear before the next meeting of the county board to ask for an appropriation for the fair.

Social Items

Kaukauna—The marriage of Miss Lydia Strack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Peterson, South Kaukauna, to Herman Schulz of Marion, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Schulz, took place at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents. Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Irving Strack. The Rev. Ed L. Worthman performed the ceremony. A wedding supper was served to 75 guests and a dance followed. Mr. and Mrs. Schulz will make their home at Kaukauna.

A regular meeting of the Lady Elks will be held Friday afternoon in Elks hall. Mrs. Henry Brauer is to be hostess.

The E. F. U. held a regular meeting Wednesday evening in the Odd Fellows hall. Routine business was transacted.

BOARD MEETING
Kaukauna—A meeting of the First Congregational church board will be held Friday evening at the home of Hugo Wiefenbach. Important business is to come before the board. The Young People's choir will meet the same evening at the home of Miss Mable Look.

REILLY TELLS ROTARY OF MEXICAN SITUATION

Kaukauna—The Kaukauna Rotary club held its regular Wednesday meeting in the Kaukauna High school building Wednesday noon. M. K. Reilly of Fond du Lac was the speaker. Mr. Reilly spoke on the religious situation in Mexico. He said the government is trying to put into force a program which was entirely too radical for this day and age. Mr. Reilly belayed the number on clergymen in Mexico should not be limited.

URGE EVERY HOME TO HAVE FAMILY ALTAR

Spiritual Devotions in the Home Stressed at Church Conference

Kaukauna—Dr. F. Grether of the Mission church at Plymouth spoke on the Family Altar at the Wednesday evening session of the semi-annual spiritual conference of the central district of the Sheboygan Classis of the Reformed church. Dr. Grether told of the importance of having a place as well as a time of worship in the home. Dr. Grether emphasized that the family altar holds the home together more than anything else in the world. Over three hundred people attended the sessions of the conference which started at 9:30 Wednesday morning and continued through the day. Thirty-five delegates from the Reformed churches at Dale, Appleton, Portersville, Pottery, Oshkosh, Fremont, Green Bay and Kaukauna were in attendance.

The general theme for all of the sessions was the importance of the spiritual life in the family and the family altar was stressed.

The Rev. H. F. Limbacher of Oshkosh gave a resume of the Book of Romans during the morning session. He memorized the major part of this book including all of the doctrinal words. He could recite from memory word for word all of the chapters in the book. Mr. Limbacher memorized this book while confined to his bed with an illness.

Other speakers on the program were the Rev. H. Schmidt and the Rev. William Oelrich, who addressed the afternoon meeting. The Value of the Psalms for Devotion and on Pastoral and Sick Calls, respectively.

"CASCARETS" FOR BOWELS, STOMACH, HEADACHE, COLDS

Clean your liver and constipated bowels to-night and feel fine

Get a 10-cent box now. Are you keeping your liver, stomach and bowels clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passage-way every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important. Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels. No odds how sick, headachy, bilious and constipated you feel, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a gentle cleansing, too. adv

Mrs. Griepentrog was born December 25, 1845 in Germany and came to this country at the age of two years.

STUDENTS ENTER JUDGING CONTEST

Members of Agricultural Class of Chilton Go to Madison This Week

Special to Post-Crescent

Chilton—Guido L. Weber, teacher of agriculture in the high school, and 18 members of his classes left Thursday morning for Madison to participate in the state live stock, grain poultry judging contest. On Saturday the party will attend the Wisconsin Minnesota football game, returning to Chilton Saturday evening.

Mrs. Bernice Krutz has been ill for the past three days with an attack of tonsillitis.

The Ladies' Aid was entertained at the home of Mrs. George Stouder Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Emil Melnarus of Kell visited her sister, Mrs. Jos. Rasch, on Wednesday. She also attended the meeting of the Ladies' Aid, of which she was a member during her residence in Chilton.

Dr. and Mrs. A. Schmitz of Sheboygan were Chilton visitors Wednesday.

Mrs. William Stauss spent Tuesday in Sheboygan.

Mrs. H. F. Arps visited in New Holstein on Wednesday.

Guido L. Weber took eight of the members of his agriculture classes to Fond du Lac Tuesday to attend the Clark Holstein sale, where 400 head of pure bred Holstein cattle were sold. This trip made to give the boys greater opportunity to develop skill in cattle judging.

Mrs. W. Stauss visited her sister in Plymouth Thursday.

broke out in the Bessert meat market. The flames are thought to have originated in the smokehouse. Considerable damage was done.

SAFETY PROGRAM IS HELD AT KIMBERLY

Bleach Plant and Electrical Departments of Mill Sponsor Gathering

Special to Post-Crescent

Kimberly—Wednesday noon a safety program was presented at the Club house by the bleach plant and electrical departments of the Kimberly-Clark mill. Charleston dancing by little Marie Sapp of Appleton was the first number on the program. F. G. Wheeler gave a safety talk, and clog dancing and several musical selections by Clancy Coates and William Grins, followed. An artificial breathing demonstration over an unconscious person who had received a electric shock was given, and the proper way to carry an unconscious person also was demonstrated. The concluding number was a song by eight members of the department. Ben Greb was chairman of the program committee. A large crowd attended.

The St. Francis Xavier Court No. 1636 of the Catholic Order of Foresters installed officers at the regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening at the Clubhouse. The officers installed were: John Vanden Heuvel, chief ranger; John Fox, vice ranger; John Fierce, financial secretary; Peter Lomenski, recording secretary; John Weyenberg, treasurer; Harry Van Himberger, Jacob Verbeeten and August Mauther, trustees; Theodore Williams, speaker; William Vander Velden and William Mauther, sentinels; and George Sauter and Joseph Thein, conductors. L. P. Duffy of Racine, district supervisor, spoke at the meeting. After the meeting a lunch was served.

A Halloween party will be given Friday evening at the public school for the high school pupils. Those on the committee are Mario Franz, Dorothy Schertz, and Donelda Williams.

Plans are under way for adult classes at the high school, but as yet nothing definite has been decided.

Letters have been written to numerous companies for their educational exhibits and literature for the public school. These exhibits, besides their value as educational devices, furnished many interesting themes for work. To date exhibits or literature on the following subjects have been received: the story of rubber, the history of carborundum, the Calumet Baking powder book, and domestic science cook book, coal products and several more are on the way or have been promised.

L. O. Cooke, athletic director, has scheduled two games of basketball between the high school team and Seymour. The first game will be played at Kimberly club house, Nov. 20.

Hobart, Australia, is to have automatic telephones.

ENOUGH SERUM ON HAND NOW TO FIGHT CHOLERA EPIDEMIC

State Gets Supply from Federal Government to Control Disease

Madison, (P)—New supplies of hog cholera serum have been made available to farmers of Wisconsin by the University of Wisconsin agricultural experiment station to combat the outbreak of hog cholera prevalent since the first part of October.

In a letter sent to every licensed veterinarian in the state Thursday, Dr. R. B. Hadley, experiment station veterinarian, said the supply of serum and virus on hand was sufficient to treat every herd in which the disease has broken out, or which has been exposed.

The price of the serum to veterinarians is $1.50 per hundred cubic centimeters, Dr. Hadley said, while the price of virus is $1.50 per hundred cubic centimeters. This represents, he said, the actual cost of the serum and virus to the university.

Due to extensive vaccination treatments in the state, the supply was practically exhausted when the outbreak occurred a month ago. The disease at that time was more or less prevalent in Grant county near Prairie du Chien and Lancaster, Rock county, east of Janesville, La Crosse county, near La Crosse and Onalaska, Winnebago county, near Oshkosh, Dane and Outagamie counties near Appleton, Madison and Oregon.

Officials of the state department of agriculture said that the disease has spread to other herds but is under control.

While the supply of serum is sufficient to treat affected or exposed hogs, veterinarians were instructed in Dr. Hadley's letter, not to use the serum for herds in which no trace of the disease has been found.

At the time of the outbreak, the state department of agriculture warned hog growers to keep their herds from the healthy members of their herds and to call for trained help as quickly as possible.

While the outbreak is being watched, officials of the state department and the experiment station expressed no fear that they could not keep the epidemic under control with the new supplies of serum.

RURAL SIDE ROADS ALMOST IMPASSABLE

Many side roads in the county are in poor shape, according to the rural carriers at the Appleton postoffice, and the roads in some places are impassable. In some places there are deep ruts and mud holes and other places automobiles must travel very slowly because of the numerous chuck holes which threaten to break the springs. Rural carriers state that the roads are in the poorest condition they have been at this season for some years.

FILL NORTH APPROACH TO HIGHWAY 15 BRIDGE

Earth filling for the north approach to the new bridge at the foot of the Little Chute hill on Highway 15 was completed Wednesday. A large caterpillar tractor is being used to grade the fill preparatory to constructing a concrete roadway. Filling in of the south approach is to start at once.

The earth for filling is being cut from the hill at the side of the road. It is hauled to the road by two large trucks. The work is being done by the Greunke Brothers Construction company of Appleton. Construction was started about two months ago and will be finished by the first of the year.

CLUB COMPLETES ITS PLANS FOR PARTY

Final plans for a Halloween party which will be held Saturday evening were made at the regular meeting of the H-Y club Wednesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. Twenty-two club members have signed their intention of attending. William Meyer, chairman of the social committee, is in charge of games for the party. Members of the executive committee are in charge of the ghost walk. John Frampton, the ghost stories; Carleton Roth, decorations; and Franklin Werner, refreshments. The executive committee is sponsoring the party.

ANNOUNCE WINNERS IN "WISE CRACK" CONTEST

Prizes for the wise-crack contest sponsored by the Appleton Post-Crescent and Fischers Appleton theater were announced Wednesday night when the competition closed. The Post-Crescent paid cash prizes and the theater gave tickets for the moving picture "You'd Be Surprised" featuring Raymond Griffiths which will start on Friday night, to those who thought up the best new wise cracks and their definitions or new definitions for old wise cracks.

The prize winners were: Miss Margaret Mead, 913 E. Pacific-st., $3; H. J. Leimer, 405 E. Washington-st., $2; Miss Jane Malcolm, Kimberly, $1; Alfred Stott, 1407 N. Appleton-st., four tickets; Miss Leona Berg, 908 N. Morrison-st., two tickets and Miss Eunice Marx, 840 E. North-st., one ticket.

COMPLETE PAVEMENT OF ALLEY THIS WEEK

Paving of S. Superior-st from W. College-ave to the Post-Crescent alley will be completed Friday, according to Paul Hoffman of the Hoffman Construction company. The street will be closed for about 14 days more to allow the concrete to set. The pavement will cost approximately $2,600.

The following marriage license applications are on file with County Clerk John E. Hantsch: Earle Fullerton, Appleton, to wed Amy Taylor, Waunakee; Nick Milbach, to wed Annel Conrad, both of Kaukauna; A. Walter Flunker, Dale, to wed Gladys Gast, Medina; Cornelius Lange-dyk, Little Chute, to wed Clara Van Gosen, Appleton.

Indiana Only State Where Klan Still Has Power

Political prestige of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan has been shattered in every state save Indiana, a survey made on the eve of the national elections of Nov. 2 indicates.

Democratic voters of Indiana harbor hopes of an "upset" that definitely will end the Klan's reputed control of politics there. Even the most confident of the Democratic leaders, however, admit these hopes may not be realized.

They say returns at least will reflect a heavy loss of Klan voting strength, however.

In Texas, where Klan dominance of politics first reached full flower, the organization's influence at the polls is said to have become virtually extinct.

Klan issues have been revived in Oklahoma in the gubernatorial and senatorial races. This is ascribed, however, to peculiar local conditions. It is stated that when the campaign is over the Klan is certain to lapse into political obscurity.

In Kansas and in Ohio, the organization is said to be politically inactive. Colorado voters dealt the Klan politicians a heavy blow in the primaries. Reports gathered from these states follow.

Evansville, Ind.—What effect will the recent exposure of Ku Klux Klan politics have on election in Indiana Nov. 2?

That question is being asked in many parts of the United States and is being fired into this state by telegram and letter from all points of the compass.

The upmost question among Hoosiers themselves is whether the change in vote from recent elections will be great enough to make the expected "cleaning up" of Indiana complete.

In the earlier days of Ku Klux Klan activity in Indiana, politics, disgust over the lack of other issues increased the number of stay-at-homes among voters. Now that an awakening lot has come, there will be a greater outpouring at the polls than the wildest optimist would have counted on sixty days ago.

The completeness with which the Klan dominated some past elections through its control of the state Republican machine is working the undoing of the Klan in counties with large urban populations.

In many communities the strongest of anti-Klan candidates now are on the Republican ticket.

The crime which put 35-year-old D. C. Stephenson, the "old man" of the Klan, in prison for life—a crime against womanhood—revolted the women of Indiana against him and the organization that he ran.

It is likely that the woman vote in Indiana will be felt heavily in the coming election.

In one large county where the Klan at its peak had 7500 paying members, it has less than 800 at the present time. It has been dwindling everywhere.

Opposition to the world court is the issue the Klan is paramounting. The average Hoosier has never got up on his hind legs about this question.

The element of great uncertainty in the coming election is, in the minds of professional politicians, the fact that the Democratic party, statewide

CROSS, FEVERISH CHILD IS BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED

Look, Mother! See if tongue is coated, breath hot or stomach sour

"California Fig Syrup" can't harm tender stomach, liver, bowels

Every mother realizes after giving her children "California Fig Syrup," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish, or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother. If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless, "fruitly laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When the little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, sold by "California Fig Syrup Company."

and locally, lacks funds for getting out the vote.

However, the coming election is not one of strict party division at all.

Conservative and able Republican political students readily may be found in Indiana who believe that James E. Watson and Arthur Robinson will carry the senatorial election, but by nothing like the vote they might have received several months ago.

There are Democrats with equal right to speak who firmly believe that Albert Stump and Evans Woolen will pile up a Democratic victory.

Oklahoma City, Okla.—The Klan remains a political issue in Oklahoma City this year, despite an admittedly large loss of members.

Henry S. Johnston, Democratic candidate for governor, has refused to deny he is a Klansman, but says he wouldn't allow the Klan to influence him.

Omer K. Benedict, Republican candidate for governor, admits joining the Klan in 1921, but says he withdrew because he disapproved of the organization's tactics. Johnston's friends accuse Benedict of insincerity.

John Frauling, farmer-labor candidate for governor, asserts that both Johnston and Benedict are Klan candidates, and that he is the only real anti-Klan candidate.

There will be much switching of anti-Klan Democrats to Benedict and pro-Klan Republicans to Johnston, political observers say.

Congressman Elmer Thomas, Democratic candidate for senator, admits joining the Klan, but says he let his membership lapse.

Senator John W. Harrell, Republican candidate for reelection, denies he ever joined the Klan.

Democrats point out that Imperial Wizard Hiram W. Evans endorsed Harrell by name for his vote against the world court.

The Indiana situation will undoubtedly hurt the Klan in Oklahoma, but the opinion of many impartial observers is that the Klan's influence in this state was practically gone until the issue was revived by politicians in the present campaign, and that when the campaign is over the Klan will be practically forgotten.

DEAD ISSUE IN TEXAS

Dallas, Tex.—The Ku Klux Klan is a nullity as a political issue in Texas. The last vestige of Klan political power has been wiped out in state affairs, and locally it controls only the city government of Beaumont at the present time.

"Mr. Ferguson's victory as candidate for governor two years ago was the crowning victory of the opposition to the Klan.

There will be an echo of Klan rule in Texas if Earle B. Mayfield, U. S. senator, runs for reelection at the end of his term. Mayfield had the Klan's support in his original winning race.

Next time, this support will mean nothing to him.

Cincinnati, Ohio.—The Ku Klux Klan has been reduced to a tenth of its peak membership in Ohio, according to well-established reports, and the day when it figured importantly in Ohio politics is over. Klan and anti-Klan sentiment linger only in the senatorial race between Frank B. Willis, said to have Klan support, and Allee Pomerene, and even here it is but a slight factor.

TWO HOMES MADE HAPPY

By Women Who Used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I think it is the most wonderful medicine I ever tried," is the statement made by Mrs. Goldie Shoup of May View, Illinois. She declares that after taking the Compound she is in better health than before.

Mrs. J. Storms of 29 Lane Street, Paterson, N. J., writes: "I can not speak too highly of your medicine and I recommend it to all my friends."

These statements were taken from two enthusiastic letters which tell of the help that has been received from using the Vegetable Compound. Both Mrs. Shoup and Mrs. Storms were in a run-down condition which caused them much unhappiness. When women are suffering from lack of strength and from weakness, their own life and that of their family is affected. When they feel well and strong and are able to do their household easily, happy homes are the result.

KITCHEN RANGE
Every type, style and price for every fuel

UNDER the magic of your touch, is always ready to cook and bake for you an endless variety of tempting foods—delicious roasts, light airy biscuits, pastry done to a turn, bread delightfully brown.

Alcazar Gas Ranges have the Alcazar Spiral Spoke Burners. Ovens have double walls and heavy asbestos in addition is used. The even heat thus secured with less gas consumption and the effective heat circulation provide the perfect baking results which are the pride of every user of an Alcazar Gas Range.

Let us show it to you

It will pay you to change to an Alcazar range

HAUERT, HDWE. CO.

Denver, Colo.—A veritable debacle was suffered by the Ku Klux Klan in Colorado when U. S. Senator Rico W. Means, Republican, was defeated for renomination in the September primary. The nomination went to Charles W. Waterman.

End of the four-year rule of the Klan in this state clearly was foreshadowed by the primary results. Nomination of O. H. Shoup, Republican, and William H. Adams, Democrat, for the governorship, also helped signify the Klan's political undoing. Most critics concede this despite efforts to identify Adams as a Klan sympathizer.

Adams indignantly has repudiated this theory.

Airing of Klan politics in Indiana is certain to aid the Klan's opponent in further swamping that body in this state, it is believed.
